Alma Mater—Carmen Ohio

Graduates and guests led by
John Robin Rice
Assistant Professor, School of Music

Oh! come let's sing Ohio's praise,
And songs to Alma Mater raise;
While our hearts rebounding thrill,
With joy which death alone can still.
Summer's heat or Winter's cold,
The seasons pass, the years will roll;
Time and change will surely show
How firm thy friendship—Ohio.

Awarding of Diplomas

Recessional

Excerpts from the commencement ceremony will be broadcast on WOSU-TV, Channel 34, at 5:30 p.m. today.

Commencement Speaker

Austin H. Kiplinger Doctor of Humane Letters

Austin H. Kiplinger is chairman and president of the Kiplinger Washington Editors, Inc., editor-in-chief of the Kiplinger Washington Letter, and editorial chairman of Changing Times magazine. His publications are renowned for their clarity and reliability; his national reputation is that of an objective and fair journalist and a patron of journalism education and of the arts.

With a career that has spanned 50 years as a columnist, broadcast commentator, and editor, he has specialized in business and political affairs. His full-time reporting began in 1940 with the San Francisco Chronicle. After World War II, in which he served as a Navy aviator in the South Pacific, he helped launch Changing Times, a personal finance guide magazine.

In 1948, Kiplinger became the front-page daily columnist of the Chicago Journal of Commerce. During the 1950's, he was a Chicago anchorman and network correspondent for the ABC and NBC television networks. He rejoined the Kiplinger Washington Editors in 1956 as executive editor of the Kiplinger Washington Letter and succeeded his father, W.M. Kiplinger, as editor-in-chief in 1961. He covered presidential and vice-presidential trips and summits throughout Europe, the Soviet Union, and the Middle East between 1959 and 1972.

Kiplinger graduated from Cornell University in 1939 with a bachelor's degree in political science and has served as a trustee at Cornell since 1960. His involvement at Ohio State includes the establishment of the Kiplinger Chair in Public Affairs Reporting in the School of Journalism in 1973. He created the chair in honor of his father, who was one of the first two graduates in journalism at Ohio State.

In addition to his distinguished career as a journalist, he has been a long-time supporter of the arts and is a past president of the National Symphony Orchestra. He has been called a "bulwark" of the arts, and described as "perpetually charming, unhurried, and thoughtful" despite heavy professional and civic responsibilities. Ohio State is grateful for his continuing support and is proud to present him an honorary degree.

Recipients of Honors

Marshall Hall, Jr. Doctor of Science

Marshall Hall, Jr., is among the most distinguished mathematicians in the world. His work in group theory and combinatorics has been very influential, and his textbooks in those areas have been standard references in their respective fields. His 120 research publications also include well-known work in number theory and projective geometry, and he is considered a pioneer in the use of computers in mathematical research.

Currently a visiting distinguished professor at Emory University, he taught at Ohio State from 1946 to 1959 and played a significant role in building the Department of Mathematics. Since leaving the University, he continues to be an important influence on Ohio State through both research and personal contacts.

He has taught at Yale University, the University of California at Santa Barbara, and the California Institute of Technology, where he was named professor emeritus in 1981. Hall also conducted work at Oxford and Cambridge Universities in Great Britain, as well as at institutions in Israel and India. His present research includes work in the area of codes and designs and the Burnside problem of Group Theory.

Hall's honors include the Henry Fellowship to Trinity College, Cambridge; two Guggenheim Fellowships, the Wilbur Cross Medal from Yale; the IBM Professorship at Cal Tech; membership in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences; and a fellowship in the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He has been a major influence on several generations of young mathematicians and an inspiration for scientists of many disciplines. Ohio State salutes his immense contributions to mathematics.

Ilsedore M. Edse Distinguished Service Award

For over 30 years, associate professor Ilsedore Edse has shared German language and culture with her students, as well as thousands of people across the state. In addition to her regular teaching responsibilities, she has produced German Language programs on WOSU radio and television since the mid 1950s. Her programs are filled with wit and imagination, always the product of much thought and enthusiasm.

Edse came to the United States from Germany after World War II. She earned her bachelor's, master's, and Ph.D. degrees from Ohio State and was inducted into several honorary societies for outstanding scholarship. She began her broadcast career in 1954 as producer and director of the German Language Series on WOSU-AM Radio. In 1957, she launched a series of German television programs on WOSU-TV and since then has produced and directed over 350 shows.

The broadcast industry, as well as her audiences, applaud her work; her programs have earned awards from the National Institute for Education by Radio-Television and two Emmy nominations from the Columbus Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

Edse is also held in high regard for her teaching ability. She was the first woman to win Ohio State's "Teacher of the Year" award, given by the Colleges of Arts and Sciences Student Council.

The West German government has also recognized Edse by awarding her the Bundesverdienstkreuz (Order of Merit) for her service to the community. Ohio State is pleased to honor her for her contributions—both to the University and to the many whose lives she has touched.

Recipients of Honors

John B. Gerlach Distinguished Service Award

The record-breaking Ohio State University Campaign is fueled by hundreds of dedicated volunteers—and among the most enthusiastic is John B. “Bernie” Gerlach. He has given unstintingly to Ohio State—both of his personal resources and of his time—to support several facets of the Campaign. He has worked to further fund-raising efforts in the Columbus region and for athletics and the College of Business. Under his leadership, the Columbus Campaign, which is part of the overall five-year Campaign, has reached 101 percent of its $135 million goal in just three years.

Gerlach has also guided his own business to great success. He is president, director, and a founder of Lancaster Colony Corporation, which manufactures glassware, plastic housewares, cookware, specialty foods, automotive products, and other items. He has taken the company from a small private business to a highly successful corporation that now generates more than $453 million in annual sales.

In honor of his father, Gerlach established a professorship in accounting and management information science in 1982. He has also supported the University by serving as a consultant in planning business courses.

Gerlach, who attended Ohio State in the late 1940s, is a life member of the Alumni Association, a member of The Presidents Council, and is serving his fourth term on the executive committee of The Presidents Club. In addition, he is a charter member of The Ohio State University Foundation’s Board of Directors. His loyalty and dedication to Ohio State have made him an exceptional model to follow, and we are proud to present him with the Distinguished Service award as an expression of the University’s appreciation.

Ruth M. Kessler Distinguished Service Award

Ruth M. Kessler brings new meaning to the term “self starter.” After leaving her successful career as an attorney to spend 23 years raising her children, she took a part-time job in a suburban public library. Twenty-four years later, she has built the Ohio State College of Law Library into one of the finest legal research facilities in the nation.

Kessler, who holds both B.A. and J.D. degrees from Ohio State, began a second career in library work at the College of Law in 1968. She started as head of cataloging and moved on to become assistant director, acting director, and finally, director and professor of law. She retired in June 1987 as a professor emeritus.

Without the advantage of formal library science training, she was forced to acquire her skills on the job. During her nineteen-year tenure at Ohio State, the law library has experienced dramatic change. The collection has swelled to fill all available shelf space, patronage has doubled, and outside use of the resources has increased tremendously. Under Kessler’s guidance, this growth was skillfully managed. She subsequently oversaw the integration of state-of-the-art library technology.

The College of Law Library was one of the first in the country to use the computerized research service LEXIS. Since that time, electronic innovation has dramatically improved library operations—a fact due largely to Kessler’s foresight. In addition, her work in building the collection, expanding personnel, and developing technological capacity has laid the foundation for a major expansion of the library in fall 1989. Her contributions will live on to benefit countless future law students. The University is pleased to honor her with the Distinguished Service Award for her invaluable service.

Recipients of Honors

Ruth Weimer Mount Distinguished Service Award

Ruth Weimer Mount has devoted a lifetime of service to both Ohio State and to the central Ohio community. She came to Ohio State in 1953 as a member of the staff of the Dean of Women. In 1961, she was appointed associate dean of women and director of women's housing, a position she held until 1967 when she became the University's first dean of students.

She resigned in 1969 but continued her support of Ohio State through a variety of volunteer roles. Mount served as adviser to the Mortar Board honorary society and has assisted numerous other student groups. She has also organized several alumni programs and activities, served as president of the Board of Trustees of the Friends of the Library, and is currently president of the Board of Directors of the Friends of WOSU.

Mount has compiled a staggering record of community service. Among the organizations she has given time to are the Columbus Symphony Orchestra, the Ohio Theatre, Children's Hospital, Zonta Club of Columbus, Central Ohio Heart Association, and many others. Her involvement with youth organizations includes service to Buckeye Boys Ranch, the Girl Scouts, Friends in Action, and Columbus Junior Theatre of the Arts.

Her dedication has not gone unnoticed; she has been honored with many awards, such as the Columbus School for Girls Distinguished Contribution Award, the Upper Arlington Rotary Club Service Above Self Award, and the Columbus Junior League Community Service Award. Most recently, she has received the Columbus Mayor's Award, the Woman of the Year Service Award from the Pilot Club of Columbus, and the YWCA Woman of Achievement Award for Human Services. We are pleased to honor her with the Ohio State Distinguished Service Award and applaud her tireless commitment to serving others.

Congratulations and Welcome to the Alumni Association

Congratulations on receiving your degree. You may not notice the difference, but today, along with hundreds of your colleagues, you've become an alumnus. For you, one era has passed, another is about to begin.

You are a member of the Buckeye family and partner in the enterprise, carrying the reputation of Ohio State through your activities and accomplishments. You exemplify the fruits of a good education: a critical mind, a discerning spirit, higher values, a sense of commitment, and the privilege of service.

You can assist the University in many ways. You can recruit new and highly qualified students. You can represent Ohio State well through personal and occupational achievements. You can participate financially through the Development Fund. And you can work in an advisory capacity with the University to improve itself and its programs to better prepare today's students for tomorrow's citizenship.

We extend to you a year's complimentary membership in the Alumni Association. Included is a year's subscription to the Ohio State Alumni Magazine, which will keep you informed of the University's continuing pursuit of excellence and help you keep in touch with your friends and classmates.

To you, your family, friends, and those others who helped you arrive here today go our best wishes. You are joining a great family of Ohio State alumni working together to make a difference around the world.

Cordially,

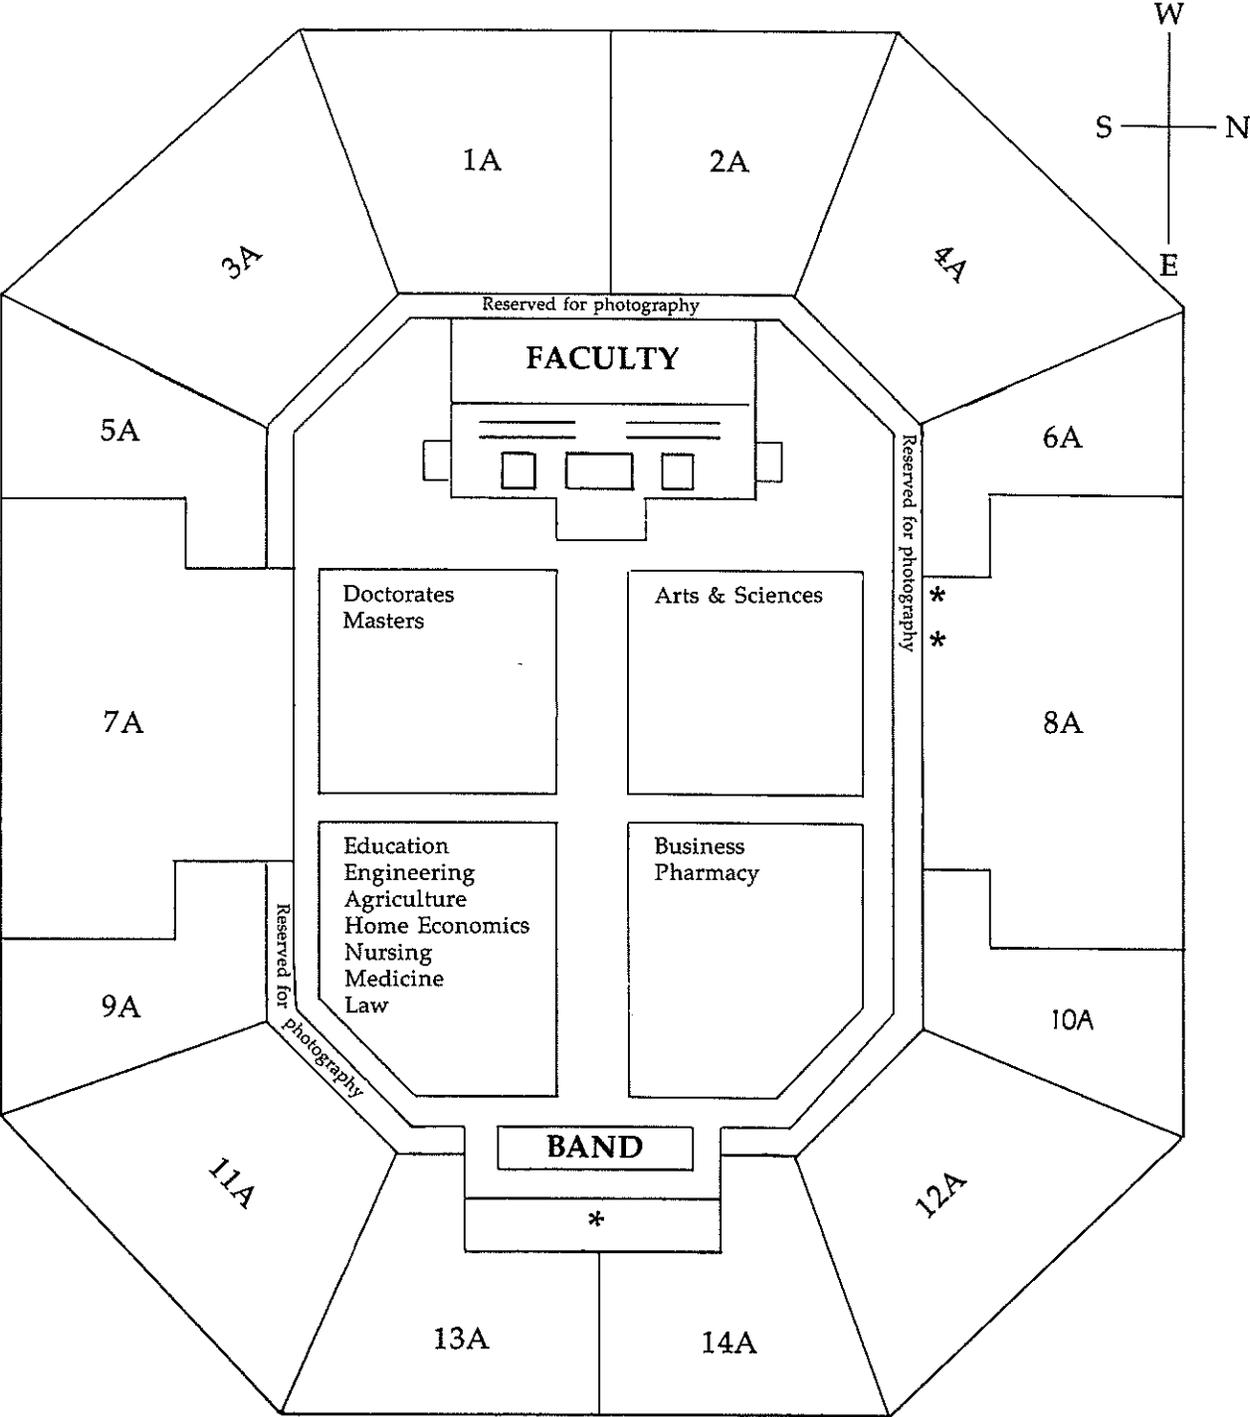

James W. Phillips

This program is not an official graduation list.

While every effort is made to ensure accuracy in this commencement program, printing deadlines sometimes prevent inclusion of graduates' names, or may result in use of names of persons not completing graduation requirements. This printed program, therefore, should not be used to determine a student's academic or degree status. The University's official registry for conferral of degrees is the student's permanent academic record, kept by the Office of the University Registrar, 202 Lincoln Tower, 1800 Cannon Drive, Columbus, OH 43210-1230.

The Academic Costume

The colorful ceremonies of The Ohio State University Commencements derive from practices originating in the Middle Ages. When European universities were taking form in the 12th and 13th centuries, the scholars were usually clerics, and consequently they adopted costumes similar to those of their monastic orders. Cold halls and drafty buildings called for caps and floor-length capes with attached hoods, and the sobering influence of the church probably influenced the staid character of the caps and gowns.

As the control of the universities gradually passed from the church, some aspects of the costumes took on brighter hues. Old prints and engravings, however, reveal a strong similarity between the regalia worn in early universities and that of the present day.

In light of our nation's English heritage, academic costume has been in use in the United States since colonial times. To establish a standard of uniformity in regard to the practice, an inter-collegiate commission was formed to prepare a code for caps, gowns, and hoods that has since been adopted by all academic institutions.

Originally round, the shape of the cap is now the familiar mortarboard square—a shape which, according to ballad folklore, resembles a scholar's book. Legend also has it that the privilege of wearing a cap was the initial right of a freed Roman slave; the academic cap, therefore, has become a sign of the freedom of scholarship. The flowing gown has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship for it covers any dress that might indicate rank or social status. The hood, reserved at The Ohio State University for those receiving doctoral degrees, not only indicates the type of degree, but also is lined with the official colors of the University.

The Gown

Bachelor. Black, full cut with long pointed sleeves.

Master. Black, long or short sleeves with a re-shaped panel extended for each sleeve.

Doctor. Black with velvet panels on front of gown and three velvet bars on each sleeve. Color of the velvet may be black or distinctive of the field of study.

The Hood

Bachelor. Three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Master. Three and one-half feet long with a three-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Doctor. Four feet in length with a five-inch-wide velvet edging and panel at the sides.

*Not usually worn by candidates for a degree.

The lining of all hoods, which is folded out, bears the official colors of the institution granting the degree. The color of the velvet indicates the field of study:
