POMP, CIRCUMSTANCE, AND OTHER SONGS OF A LIFETIME

—by Professor David Citino, 1947-2005, Late University Poet Laureate (Originally presented as the 2000 Winter Commencement address)

If you're like me, you've got a big head, not to mention a funny robe, full of music poems and melodies, the tunes we move to, shower and shave by, study, write to. Not just the incidental, but the momentous music keeping time. Our histories are measures of song. Listen to your heart: drums of Africa, sea-spume of blind, far-sighted Homer, Sappho's honeyed love lyrics. Often, music speaks for us, one note saying a thousand words. Like Rodolpho in Puccini's La Boheme, Sono un poeta. I am a poet. Che cosa faccio? What do I do? Scrivo. I write. This ceremony is loud music—pomp and circumstance of the life you began freshman year or that first day of graduate school. In my head I press Play, and the CD of Big Days kicks on. I leap and linger over moments too sweet, nearly, for words. I'll never escape rhymes from the nursery. Up above the world so high, like a diamond in the sky. We knew from the start our universe was aglow with wonder.

Italian, Latin, English songs in nasal accents of Cleveland. Gaudeamus igitur, Juvenes dum sumus. So, let us rejoice, while we are young. Youth is that gift we can't comprehend while we're young. This ceremony means you all are less young than you were. Don't let the heavy knowledge gained from your studies deprive you of the gifts of youth, to be able to rejoice at the drop of a hat, to care for, be moved by others.

Now! hear golden hits of five decades. Big Mama Thornton, and that so-called King (King of what, fried butter sandwiches?) who stole away her hound dog. You ain't never killed a rabbit, you ain't no friend of mine. As with those profs and TAs, course after course, you had to produce kill some rabbits—to earn respect. And at times OSU may have seemed like Heartbreak Hotel, down at the end of Lonely Street, so difficult was it to do your best. Tennessee Ernie Ford, "Sixteen Tons": St. Peter don't you call me'Cause I can't go. I owe my soul to the company store.

You have been digging deep in mines of knowledge. We all owe our souls to Ohio State, company store of learning, shared experience—precious ore we have in common forever.

Now I hear Domenico Modugno's fervent urging to wish, sing, fly, Volare, Wo-oo. Cantare, Wo-o-o-o. My grandfather was a peasant farmer, a contadino in Calabria in the toe of Italy. He knew it's the human lot to dream of flying, Lucky, lucky, lucky me, I'm a lucky son-of-a-gun. I work eight hours, I sleep eight hours, That leaves eight hours for fun.

Hey! He sailed in steerage across the Atlantic, came to Cleveland, where he stayed long enough to work 52 years for the B&O Railroad, before lying down to rest in good Ohio soil. So many of us here today came from elsewhere, or ancestors did. From Tennessee, Italy, Africa, Asia, Appalachia—even, President Kirwan, the wilds of Kentucky and Maryland. Women and men with backs supple as birch trunks. The courage it took to pick up stakes and begin again in a new world! Think of the work those older ones did. For you. You all are facing a change right now.

This sheepskin is your passport. You're bound for emigration to the next song of your life. Ohio State is the ark on which you've been sailing. You've been the precious cargo.

But, as Noah once said, I can see clearly now the rain is gone. The ark, our university, was filled to overflowing with the diversity of us. Diversity. Networks and talk shows devalue the word.

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Jack Hanna

armly regarded as America's favorite zookeeper, Jack Hanna is widely recognized and celebrated for his wildlife advocacy and conservation efforts. He has served as director emeritus of the Columbus Zoo and Aquarium for two decades. He also has built a successful career as a national animal expert and media favorite.

Mr. Hanna began his career in Sanford, Florida, as director of the Central Florida Zoo. In 1978, he was hired as director of the Columbus Zoo and Aquarium, a position he held until 1992 when he was named director emeritus. He led the zoo through a significant transformation—implementing educational programming and entertainment, expanding the zoo grounds, and designing updated animal habitats. The Columbus Zoo is now highly regarded as one of the best in the nation, and its success is largely credited to Mr. Hanna's hands-on leadership and expertise.

With his signature enthusiasm for educating people across the nation about animals, Mr. Hanna has developed several popular television series for families. His first series, Jack Hanna's Animal Adventures, debuted in 1993. His ongoing series, Jack Hanna's Into the Wild, which began in 2007, won the Emmy for Outstanding Children's Series in 2008 and 2012. He continues to travel the globe to film Into the Wild, in addition to his newest series, Jack Hanna's Wild Countdown.

Sought often for appearances as an animal expert in the media, Mr. Hanna has used these opportunities to raise awareness of wildlife and conservation issues. Since his first visit to Good Morning America in 1983, he has served as a regular guest correspondent on the morning news show. He also appears regularly on The Late Show with David Letterman and has made numerous television appearances on such programs as Larry King Live, The Ellen DeGeneres Show, and Entertainment Tonight, among others.

A native of Knoxville, Tennessee, Mr. Hanna earned his undergraduate degree at Muskingum College in New Concord, Ohio. He and his wife, Suzi, live in central Ohio and have three daughters, six grandchildren, and a yellow Labrador.

RECIPIENTS OF HONORS

Vikki Heywood

DOCTOR OF ARTS

ne of the foremost managing directors in the arts, Vikki Heywood is currently chair of the Royal Society for the encouragement of Arts, Manufactures and Commerce (RSA), based in London, England. From 2003 to 2012, she served as executive director of the Royal Shakespeare Company, leading a period of unmatched success for the organization, including a recent collaboration with The Ohio State University to showcase the renowned theatre company in America and support Ohio State's aspiration to be a destination for the innovative teaching, research, and performance of Shakespeare.

In January 2012, The Stage newspaper designated Ms. Heywood as one of the top four most influential people in the British theatre industry. In recognition of her exemplary leadership, she was awarded a Commander of the British Empire for services to drama as part of the 2012 Queen's Birthday honors. She is also a Fellow of the Royal Society of the Arts (2005).

As executive director of the Royal Shakespeare Company, Ms. Heywood managed a staff of 900 and numerous productions from its home in Stratford-upon-Avon, as well as production tours throughout the United Kingdom and abroad. Her oversight led to the successful program to rebuild the Royal Shakespeare Theatre. During the span of her distinguished career, she produced hundreds of noted theatre productions around the world. In addition, she led the way in launching a website and creating a wide range of digital content, including the distance learning program "Teaching Shakespeare."

Ms. Heywood received a Diploma in Drama from Central School of Speech and Drama in 1977, after which she began her luminous career in the theatre. Prior to her involvement with the Royal Shakespeare Company, she was managing director of the Royal Court Theatre, the United Kingdom's national theatre for new writing.

Ray Jackendoff

hroughout his distinguished 45-year career, Ray Jackendoff of Belmont, Massachusetts, has been one of the world's most influential linguists. He is renowned not only for his seminal work in linguistics, but also for the broad impact his research has had on cognitive science, musicology, and social theory. Dr. Jackendoff taught for many years at Brandeis University, and he is currently the Seth Merrin Professor of Humanities and co-director of the Center for Cognitive Studies at Tufts University.

Dr. Jackendoff earned a BA in mathematics from Swarthmore College in 1965 and a PhD in linguistics in 1969 from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His research grows out of the tradition of generative grammar, based on the hypothesis that humans have an innate capacity to learn, understand, and produce language, rooted ultimately in the human genome. He has been enormously influential in the field of semantics, where he focuses on the structure of meaning in language, how it is related to thought, perception, and the understanding of the world.

A prolific scholar and writer, Dr. Jackendoff has delivered important keynote lectures throughout the world, and has published more than a dozen books, the most recent of which is A User's Guide to Thought and Meaning. His works continue to be among the most cited in the field of linguistics. He is also a professional clarinetist, and has combined his scientific interests and musical talent in developing a groundbreaking theory of music cognition, linked in spirit to his work in generative linguistics. In addition, he has extended his theory of meaning to social concepts such as value, morality, obligation, and law, showing how these concepts influence our human world. His current research explores the complexity of linguistic knowledge and its implications for the evolution of the language faculty.

Dr. Jackendoff is the recipient of the 2003 Jean Nicod Prize in Cognitive Philosophy. He is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the Cognitive Science Society. He is past president of both the Linguistic Society of America and the Society for Philosophy and Psychology, and he has had research fellowships at the Center for Advanced Studies in the Behavioral Sciences and at the Wissenschaftskolleg zu Berlin.

s the author of more than 1,050 scientific publications and the holder of 205 patents, Tobin Marks of Evanston, Illinois, is widely considered one of the world's most renowned chemists, as well as one of its most brilliant, creative, and versatile scientific minds. Dr. Marks earned his bachelor's degree in 1966 from the University of Maryland and his PhD in 1971 from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Since then, he has spent a prolific 40-year career at Northwestern University, where he is currently the Vladimir N. Ipatieff Professor of Catalytic Chemistry.

Dr. Marks' work focuses on inorganic chemistry, catalytic processes, and materials science. His multidisciplinary scholarship has led directly to the creation of a vast array of new synthetic materials with potential applications in a number of different industries. These include plastics that are cleaner, stronger, and greener than normal and that can be created from sustainable feed stocks, as well as advancements in polymer solar cells and light sources.

One of the most highly cited chemical scientists in the world, he pioneered an entirely new field of study in metal-ligand bonding energetics, of which he is still considered the foremost expert. His research and theories continue to have a wide influence on several important branches of chemistry. Over the course of his distinguished career, Dr. Marks has mentored nearly 200 graduate and postdoctoral students, many of whom have gone on to distinguished careers of their own.

Dr. Marks has been invited regularly to universities, corporations, and organizations around the globe to give lectures on his trailblazing work in chemistry.

For his ingenuity in the lab and in the classroom, Dr. Marks has been consistently awarded prestigious honors or fellowships on a nearly annual basis since 1974, including the Alfred P. Sloan Fellowship, the J.S. Guggenheim Foundation Fellowship, and the Royal Society of Chemistry Fellowship. ## James R. Tootle ames Tootle is one of The Ohio State University's greatest advocates. He has been an architect of change while maintaining focus on the university's mission and values.

A native of Columbus, Dr. Tootle enrolled as a freshman in 1961 and studied history at Ohio State for both his undergraduate and graduate education. It was during this time that he began working as a graduate teaching assistant and academic advisor for students who had yet to declare their majors—roles that would provide the foundation for a distinguished career in higher education.

After earning his PhD in 1972, Dr. Tootle became a senior administrator at Ohio State as college secretary of University College, where he helped design and teach a special section of the freshman survey course for studentathletes. Eleven years later, he was named assistant dean of Arts and Sciences, a role he held until his retirement in 1999. Known for putting students first, he guided the college through countless academic changes and initiatives, which would later prove enormously successful in creating one the country's finest arts and sciences programs.

Over the years, Dr. Tootle's leadership fostered significant changes in the undergraduate student experience. He was a constant mentor to student leaders across campus, working with the Sphinx Senior Honorary and Romophos Sophomore Honorary, the Edward S. "Beanie" Drake Scholarship Board, and the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi. He also worked on the Special Action Admissions Committee for incoming transfer students and was a member of the Committee on the Undergraduate Experience.

He has continued to volunteer his time and expertise to the university after retirement, serving on The Ohio State University Retirees Association board, Sphinx Senior Honorary Centennial Steering Committee, and the Ohio Union Council. He was instrumental in the development of the themes portrayed in the new Ohio Union and continues to lead personal tours and connect students with the traditions of Ohio State.

In recent years, Dr. Tootle has combined his academic background in American history with his longstanding interest in baseball to develop a career as a baseball historian, authoring two books and numerous articles.

The Ohio State University 2012 Class Gift

On the eve of graduation in 1891, a group of Ohio State students planted five elm trees on the Oval. Now, more than a century later, "The Five Brothers" grove still grows and the tradition of bestowing a Class Gift upon the university continues.

Through the years, graduating seniors have helped shape the campus experience of countless students, alumni, and friends of Ohio State by offering a Class Gift. The chimes of Orton Hall, "The Long Walk" on the Oval, the beautification of Mirror Lake, and University Hall's tower clock are but a few of the special projects funded by students wishing to commemorate their time spent at this great university.

Members of the 2012 class have an opportunity to leave their unique legacy and participate in Ohio State's history of giving. By making a gift to Ohio State, graduating seniors can express appreciation for the education they have received by giving to the area that has meant the most to them like scholarships, colleges, offices, departments, programs, athletics, or student life.

As we continue to build for the future by building on the foundations of the past, graduates who wish to commit $20.12 or other amount as part of the 2012 Class Gift may do so online at studentcampaign.osu.edu.

The university congratulates the graduates of 2012, and thanks them for their contributions to the Ohio State community.

A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT GEE

Graduates:

ake a moment and look around you. Your friends, family, and fellow new alumni are together today to celebrate one of life's major milestones—your successful passage through four (or more!) rigorous years of higher education.

Believe it or not, I once also wore the robes of a young college graduate and I can assure you I still vividly remember the feeling of that enormous achievement—one that I hope prompts you to stand taller and walk a bit more proudly.

In the spirit of the occasion, I offer a few words of encouragement. The world today is full of unique and exciting opportunities for college graduates. Indeed, whatever discipline you have decided to pursue for yourself, endless possibilities are now open to you to create, to repair, to heal, to inform, and to inspire in previously unimaginable ways. My belief is that wherever there is a job to be done, no one is better suited for it than a graduate of Ohio State.

Personally, I am more confident than ever before in the knowledge and skills you have earned by making your way through this great university. The wisdom you have gained will make you valuable stewards of the community in which you belong, as well as the world that you inherit. More and more frequently, it is a world that calls for inspiration and imagination. But this—to my mind—means only that everyone should grow very accustomed to hearing, with increasing frequency: O-H!

Sincerely,

E. Gordon Gee President

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

ADUATE CHOO

Advancing graduate education for over 100 years

ongratulations to those of you receiving degrees this year from the Graduate School as we celebrate our 100th anniversary. Today, approximately 220 new PhDs and 575 master's students will join the 160,000 alumni who have earned their graduate degrees since the Graduate School's founding in 1911. To put this in perspective, the Graduate School awarded just two PhDs and 52 master's degrees in its second year of existence. The growth from then to now is extraordinary and helps demonstrate why Ohio State and Ohio State graduate alumni are known all over the world.

Of the many recurring themes from the past 100 years, our national conversation has once again turned to the significant value that graduate degree holders add to any employment sector. This growing demand has a truly global reach. Employers need individuals who demonstrate those qualities that have always distinguished students pursuing graduate degrees—they are forward thinking, creative, and motivated. The PhD, for example, prepares individuals to engage in independent research and to creatively formulate new questions. With these skills, our graduates are uniquely prepared to address and help solve the challenges facing humanity that arise every day in our increasingly complex world.

During the Graduate School's centennial year, we are underscoring the value of graduate education through the following projects:

- Creating opportunities for new, professionally oriented master's programs that meet local, state, and national needs
- Exploring new directions in doctoral education
- Hosting a summit at Ohio State focusing on career pathways for graduate students
- Celebrating the achievements of our current graduate students

Additionally, I am reaching out to Ohio State Graduate School alumni to see how they are using their degrees. If you are one of today's graduates, or alumnus or alumna, I am eager to hear your story and gain your perspective on our graduate activities at Ohio State. You can participate in these discussions on the Graduate School blog at go.osu.edu/GradSchoolblog. I welcome all of you to write me directly at osmer.1@osu.edu.

Sincerely,

THE ACADEMIC COSTUME

he colorful ceremonies of The Ohio State University commencements derive from practices originating in the Middle Ages. When European universities were taking form in the 12th and 13th centuries, the scholars were usually clerics, and consequently they adopted costumes similar to those of their monastic orders. Cold halls and drafty buildings called for caps and floor-length capes with attached hoods, and the sobering influence of the church probably influenced the staid character of the caps and gowns.

As the control of the universities gradually passed from the church, some aspects of the costumes took on brighter hues. Old prints and engravings, however, reveal a strong similarity between the regalia worn in early universities and that of the present day.

In light of our nation's English heritage, academic costume has been in use in the United States since colonial times. To establish a standard of uniformity in regard to the practice, an intercollegiate commission was formed to prepare a code for caps, gowns, and hoods that has since been adopted by all academic institutions.

Originally round, the shape of the cap is now the familiar mortarboard square—a shape which, according to ballad folklore, resembles a scholar's book. Legend also has it that the privilege of wearing a cap was the initial right of a freed Roman slave; the academic cap, therefore, has become a sign of the freedom of scholarship. The flowing gown has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it covers any dress that might indicate rank or social status. The hood, reserved at The Ohio State University for those receiving doctoral and master's degrees, not only indicates the type of degree, but also is lined with the official colors of the university.

The Gown

Bachelor: The bachelor gown is black, full cut with long pointed sleeves.

Master: The master gown is black, long or short sleeves, with an arc-shaped panel extended for each sleeve.

Doctor: The Ohio State University Doctor of Philosophy gown is scarlet with gray velvet panels on the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve. Other doctor gowns are black with velvet panels and bars, the color of which is distinctive of the field of study.

Honors Emblem

The Ohio State University honors emblem is a scarlet and gray tasseled braid worn over the gown. Students eligible for this curricular honor are those graduating summa cum laude, magna cum laude, cum laude, with distinction, and with honors.

The Hood

Bachelor: Three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Master: Three and one-half feet long with a three-inch-wide velvet edging.

Doctor: Four feet in length with a five-inch-wide velvet edging and panel at the sides.

The lining of all hoods, which is folded out, bears the official colors of the institution granting the degree. The color of the velvet indicates the field of study.

Cap and Tassel

Candidates for degrees at The Ohio State University wear the black mortarboard with a tassel whose color is distinctive of the degree being received. The tassel colors are as follows:

I say, rather, the richness of us, precious difference, the grand multiplicity of selves that balance this globe and enable it to spin true. Grandson of peasant immigrants, I was given the opportunity to earn a doctorate in English literature from Ohio State—because my family labored long nights around the kitchen table trying to learn this arduous English. I sat where you're sitting twenty-six years ago.

Bob Dylan and Smokey Robinson got me through. Yes, it took a prophet and Miracles!
My son earned an OSU Ph.D. in history.
Now you, graduates, are being honored—by degrees. We've all come together around the kitchen table of Ohio State. Ohio, Round on the ends and high in the middle. For the years to come we'll sing together, Beautiful Ohio, in dreams again I see, Visions of what used to be. These psalms, sacred thoughts of our tribes, 78's and 33's, tapes, CD's—they take up space in shelves of our skulls, our hearts. They remind us we want a song beyond the runof-the-mill thrill, the moment throbbing with pleasure or bathed in the blues. We ache for something grander than pure selfishness. Songs sung for one alone are not true music. Arias shared are music of the spheres, ways of saying to another something from the soul. Of course the Buckeye Battle Cry is there. Drive, drive on down the field,

Men (and women!) of the Scarlet and Gray. Well, you drove on down the field, and you drove up and down the streets, around and around crowded lots, looking for a place to park, and you searched our dark, ancient library for a decent place to study. My wife, Mary's, father marched in the first "Script Ohio," in 1936. He's here today with us, blowing his horn, I can't help but feel, as is the sweet mother I lost last year, the one who gave me the stars. Today's music makes us think of the debts we owe, and never can repay. So many of us would not be here were it not for the Iuliabyes and songs of dear parents, their parents, theirs. Some are here today in the flesh. Many are not. We mourn them with cadences of our hearts. Think how many people sang before us, gave us a name, a voice, taught us the right words. We must cherish them by remembering every song. When we sing to others, we honor our fathers and mothers, thank them for this day of profound scarlet and gray pomp and circumstance. O, come let's sing Ohio's praise, And songs to Alma Mater raise. Alma mater. Ohio State is our sweet, nurturing mother.

We came of age here, with her help. Well, Mother, we love you, but, like, it's time we moved out, got a place of our own. You're standing there, Mom, gray hair, eyes scarlet from crying. We won't forget you. Now, even though this ceremony means we're being weaned, taken off the nipple, let's take care to cherish her all our days. Let's remember the words to the songs she taught us, and pass them on. We'll remember always, Graduation Day. Summer's heat, and winter's cold, The seasons pass, the years will roll, Time and change will surely show How firm thy friendship, O-hi-O. We call that little number Carmen Ohio. Carmen means song in Latin. You've worked hard; she is your reward; today is your reward.

You're filled to overflowing with the notes, the poems we've written together. You know the score. Continue to work hard for yourselves, and one another. Find the ones who need you to sing to, for them, in the world. Graduates, this joyful litany, this hymn our ancestors collaborated on with us, the calling of your name today is music to our ears. Sing that name proudly all your days, as if your life depended on it. It does, you know. It has been an honor for me to speak—and sing—to you today. Thank you, graduates, and, again, Congratulations.
