Class of 1997

*Oh! come let's sing Ohio's praise,
And songs to Alma Mater raise;
While our hearts rebounding thrill,
With joy which death alone can still.
Summer's heat or Winter's cold,
The seasons pass, the years will roll;
Time and change will surely show
How firm thy friendship—Ohio.*

Awarding of Diplomas

President Gee looks forward to personally congratulating you and your graduate immediately following the ceremony. He will be in front of Larkins Hall, southeast of Ohio Stadium, or inside Larkins, in case of rain.

Excerpts from the commencement ceremony will be broadcast on WOSU-TV, Channel 34, at 5:30 p.m. today.

A commencement video produced by WOSU-TV is available for purchase from The Ohio State University Alumni Association. Call (614) 292-4438 for more information.

Commencement

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Bob Greene

Doctor of Journalism

Bob Greene, syndicated columnist and best-selling author, has been called "a virtuoso of the things that bring journalism alive."

His column for the Chicago Tribune is syndicated in more than 200 newspapers in the United States, Canada, and Japan. For nine years, his "American Beat" was the lead column in Esquire magazine, and he has served as a contributing correspondent for "ABC News Nightline."

The Columbus native received a bachelor of science degree in journalism from Northwestern University in 1969. Following graduation, he joined the Chicago Sun-Times as a general assignment reporter, but within several years became a daily columnist, then a syndicated columnist. In 1978, he switched to the Chicago Tribune.

He has reported on topics ranging from presidential campaigns to rock and roll tours to the plight of abused children. Among his headline-making interviews were those with Patricia Hearst in prison, President Nixon following his resignation, and convicted mass murderer Richard Speck.

Mr. Greene is the author of 17 books, including his most recent, 50-Year Dash. His next book, Chevrolet Summers, Dairy Queen Nights, will be released this summer. Among his nationally best-selling works of nonfiction are Be True to Your School; Good Morning, Merry Sunshine; Hang Time: Days and Dreams with Michael Jordan; and, with his sister, journalist D. G. Fulford, To Our Children's Children: Preserving Family Histories for Generations to Come.

His work has earned him numerous awards, including the National Headliner Award for the best newspaper column in the United States (1977) and the Peter Lisagor Award for public service journalism (1981). In 1995, for his reporting on how the courts fail children in need, he was named Illinois Journalist of the Year.

Ohio State proudly welcomes this distinguished journalist and chronicler of the human condition to address its graduating class.

RECIPIENTS OF HONORS

Walter Mischel

Doctor of Science

Walter Mischel is Niven Professor of Humane Letters at Columbia University.

A native of Vienna, Austria, he moved to New York as a young boy when his family fled the Nazis. He studied art and psychology at New York University, and graduated in 1951 with a bachelor's degree in psychology. He received his master's in psychology from the College of the City of New York in 1953. While studying for his master's degree, Dr. Mischel worked as a social worker in New York's Lower East Side, stimulating his desire to work in a research-oriented clinical program. He enrolled at Ohio State, a renowned center for graduate training in clinical psychology and received his doctorate in psychology in 1956.

He was a faculty member at the University of Colorado for two years, followed by a four-year stint as assistant professor of social relations at Harvard University. In 1962, he joined the Stanford University faculty, becoming professor of psychology in 1966 and serving two terms as department chair. In 1983, he went to Columbia University as professor of psychology, serving as department chair from 1988 to 1991. He was named Niven Professor in 1994.

Dr. Mischel is acknowledged by his peers as the preeminent psychologist in the field of personality research today. His 1968 monograph, Personality and Assessment, challenged long-held beliefs in personality psychology and sparked vigorous new debate.

He has written more than 120 scholarly articles and book chapters and seven books, including his popular textbook, Introduction to Personality, now in its fifth edition. He has received numerous awards, including the American Psychological Association (APA) Distinguished Scientific Contribution Award (1982) and the APA Distinguished Scientist Award (1978), and he is an American Psychological Society William James Fellow. Dr. Mischel has held invited lectureships throughout the world and is a frequent invited speaker at national and international symposia and professional meetings.

For his many theoretical and empirical contributions to the science of psychology, Ohio State is proud to honor this distinguished alumnus.

Eugene P. Odum

Doctor of Science

Eugene P. Odum is Callaway Professor Emeritus of Ecology, Alumni Foundation Distinguished Professor Emeritus of Zoology, and Director Emeritus of the Institute of Ecology at the University of Georgia in Athens.

His pioneering work in the field of ecosystem ecology has spanned four decades and is recognized throughout the international scientific community.

Dr. Odum received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of North Carolina in 1934 and 1936 and his doctorate from the University of Illinois in 1939. He joined the University of Georgia faculty as an instructor in the zoology department in 1940, becoming a full professor in 1954. From 1957 to 1961, he was instructor-in-charge of the Marine Ecology Summer Training Program at the Marine Biological Laboratory in Woods Hole, Massachusetts.

He was named Alumni Foundation Distinguished Professor of Zoology at the University of Georgia in 1957 and became director of the university's Institute of Ecology in 1960. He was named Callaway Distinguished Professor of Ecology in 1977. During his tenure at the university, he was responsible for the establishment of the Marine Institute at Sapelo Island and the Savannah River Ecology Laboratory.

A prolific researcher and respected scholar, Dr. Odum is the author of Fundamentals of Ecology, Ecology, and Basic Ecology, three widely used textbooks that have been translated into numerous foreign languages, and he has written more than 200 scientific journal articles.

Among his many honors are the state of Georgia's Scientist of the Year Award (1968); the Prize of the Institute de la Vie, Paris (1975); the Ecological Society of America's Eminent Ecologist Award (1975); the Tyler Ecology Award (1977); the National Wildlife Federation's Educator of the Year Award (1977); the American Institute of Biological Sciences' Distinguished Service Award (1978); and the Royal Swedish Academy of Science's Crafoord Prize (1987). He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences and a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Ohio State proudly recognizes the many seminal contributions to the science of ecology made by this distinguished researcher.

Commencement

Erie Sauder

Doctor of Humane Letters

Erie Sauder, the retired founder of Sauder Woodworking Company and the originator of the ready-to-assemble furniture industry, has spent his entire 93 years in the northwest Ohio Mennonite community of Archbold, the site of his company.

The Sauder Woodworking Company, founded in 1934, is today the nation's largest distributor in the ready-to-assemble furniture field. Mr. Sauder credits the productive growth and continued success of his company to the employee profit-sharing program that he implemented nearly 30 years ago. Currently, the company is being managed by second and third generation family members.

Mr. Sauder has long been involved in a variety of community and philanthropic projects. He founded the 80-acre Sauder Farm and Craft Village in Archbold to preserve the lifestyle of the pioneers who settled the Great Black Swamp area of northwest Ohio. He was a founder of the Mennonite Economic Development Association, through which Mennonite volunteers enabled Soviet and German World War II refugees to develop the wasteland of Chaco, Paraguay, into habitable and profitable land. Mr. Sauder made 18 visits to the Chaco wastelands, working with the native Paraguayan Indians of the area.

Despite having finished his schooling in the eighth grade, Mr. Sauder is a strong advocate for higher education and has served as a trustee of Defiance College and an overseer of Goshen College. A longtime benefactor of Ohio State, he has supported 4-H in its career exploration and work ethic programs. His deep belief in seeking peaceful alternatives to conflict is manifested in his generous support of Ohio State's Mershon Center Peace Studies program.

Mr. Sauder is the recipient of the Ohio Governor's Award, the Archbold Citizen of the Year Award, and is a member of the Ohio Senior Citizen's Hall of Fame and the Northwest Ohio Business Hall of Fame.

Ohio State gratefully acknowledges the friendship and support of this business innovator, dedicated humanitarian, and world citizen.

Madison H. Scott

Distinguished Service Award

During his lifetime, Madison H. Scott was a dedicated member of The Ohio State University community who supported opportunities for higher education with great passion.

Prior to attending Ohio State, where he graduated in 1958 with a bachelor's degree in political science, Mr. Scott served active duty in the U. S. Army from 1948 to 1954 in Europe and the Far East. From 1959 to 1973, he was a command sergeant major and an Army training management instructor in the Ohio, West Virginia, and Kentucky Army Reserves. He also served as a civilian staff member for the U. S. Army at Fort Hayes in Columbus from 1958 to 1968.

Mr. Scott joined the Ohio State staff in 1968 as director of equal employment opportunity in the Office of Administrative Operations. He served in a variety of administrative positions, including that of the university's first affirmative action officer, before being named vice president for personnel services in 1975, a post he held until 1990. He was named executive assistant to the president in 1990 and retired from the university in 1993 as vice president emeritus. From 1979 to 1993, he served as secretary to the university's Board of Trustees.

He was a member of two university presidential search committees in 1971 and 1981, serving as secretary of the 1981 committee. Upon his retirement from Ohio State, he spent two years as executive assistant to the president of Texas Southern University. He died in June 1996.

His service to the community beyond the university was wide-ranging, encompassing membership on the boards of the National Center for Constitutional Studies, Equitable Federal Savings and Loan Association in Lancaster, Children's Hospital, the United Methodist Children's Home, the Northeast Division Vision Service Plan, and Community Mutual Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

Throughout his career, Mr. Scott was committed to assisting minority students in their educational pursuits. In April of this year, the Madison H. Scott Memorial Fund was established to provide support for the education of minority students in political science. His devotion to the university and to the community was recognized with the Columbus Bar Association's Liberty Bell Award (1971), the Ohio State Department of Political Science Distinguished Alumnus Award (1986), and the Black Alumni Society's Distinguished Alumnus Award (1971).

It is with profound gratitude that Ohio State recognizes the lasting legacy of a devoted friend and mentor.

RECIPIENTS OF HONORS

Dorothy S. Teater

Distinguished Service Award

Dorothy S. Teater is currently serving her fourth term as Franklin County Commissioner and is a past president of the County Commissioners Association of Ohio.

Mrs. Teater was elected to Columbus City Council in 1979 on her first run for public office. In 1984 she became the first woman elected to the Franklin County Board of Commissioners and, in 1987, became the first woman to serve as its president. She has been reelected as board president four times.

She received her bachelor's degree in home economics education from the University of Kentucky in 1951 and her master's degree in family resource management from Ohio State in 1954. While raising her family, she worked part time as an instructor in home economics at Ohio State and an adult education teacher for low-income families in the Columbus Public Schools. In 1967, she joined Ohio State's Cooperative Extension Service as a housing and furnishing specialist. In 1974, she was named program administrator for consumer affairs in the Department of Community Services, City of Columbus. From 1980 to 1985, she served as consumer affairs administrator for BANK ONE of Columbus, NA.

Mrs. Teater's tenure in public office has been marked by efforts to improve the community through strengthening community-based organizations. In 1988, she was instrumental in creating and providing leadership for the Juvenile Delinquency Task Force, a collaboration of agencies providing children's services. She serves on the Better Business Bureau board of trustees, the Ohio Community Corrections Advisory Committee, and the Columbus Metropolitan Area Community Action Organization board.

She has remained a loyal friend and supporter of Ohio State's College of Human Ecology, serving in a variety of volunteer capacities, including chair of the Corporate Gift Committee for the College's building fund campaign, 1989-1992; chair of the 1990-91 University Annual Fund; and is currently co-chair of the College's Campaign Committee for the "Affirm Thy Friendship" Campaign.

Ohio State is proud to honor the service of its esteemed alumna, public servant, and community leader.

Commencement

1997 RECIPIENTS OF THE ALUMNI AWARD FOR DISTINGUISHED TEACHING

The Academy of Teaching represents excellence in teaching and reflects Ohio State's commitment to quality education. Membership in the Academy of Teaching is a great honor, reserved for those recipients of the Alumni Award for Distinguished Teaching who are active faculty at the university. Its members are charged with promoting, enhancing, and recognizing good teaching. Their projects include mentoring young faculty members, helping prepare graduate students for teaching, serving as consultants and reviewers for departments, and advising the president and the chief academic officers on important issues relating to teaching.

John V. Chidley

*Assistant Professor
School of Allied Medicine*

Professor Chidley teaches anatomy at the introductory and advanced undergraduate level, as well as therapeutic exercise and kinesiology. His teaching is so outstanding that this is the third time he has received this award; he was a recipient in 1976 and 1990 as well. "This man is the essence of what makes Ohio State a great university," wrote one student. Another said, "Physical therapy is a profession of caring individuals, and no other individual represents this better than Mr. John Chidley." A faculty member for three decades, he is the admissions coordinator for the physical therapy division, a task described as "time-consuming, often thankless, but necessary, (and one) that Professor Chidley handles extremely well."

Richard J. Furnstahl

*Associate Professor
Department of Physics*

Professor Furnstahl has been known to buy his own, better-quality chalk so students in the back of the room can clearly see the blackboard. On the other end of the technology spectrum, his students also use computerized simulations to learn the laws of physics, and he maintains a web page of useful information for his students. He teaches the entire range of students, from freshmen nonscientists to doctoral students. An administrator reported that Professor Furnstahl's colleagues and students particularly revere him for "radical and wonderful changes he has brought to our undergraduate major program." One student noted Professor Furnstahl helped reduce the number of students who dropped out of the program in despair. And he did it without reducing "content level or rigor."

Joseph C. Ferrar

*Professor
Department of Mathematics*

Although he mostly teaches advanced undergraduates and graduate students, Professor Ferrar also takes on a three-course beginning mathematics sequence in which his use of small group activities and discussions is a model for aspiring school teachers. Students uniformly praise his patience, teaching ability, fairness, preparation and personality. Said one: "I can only use his example to set a high standard for myself, one that I will endeavor to replicate with my own students." A mathematics education doctoral student tells of enrolling in an extra course just so she could experience his teaching. She said, "To sum things up mathematically: There is a one-to-one correspondence between the set of qualities contributing to distinguished teaching and the Ferrar model of instruction."

Stuart D. Lishan

*Associate Professor
Department of English*

Professor Lishan turns often intimidating subjects into subjects of fascination. One student remembered a difficult British literature class: "Dr. Lishan began to read it to us. It was his voice — hearing the sound of the language—that finally made Old English not only beautiful, but understandable. To tell the truth, I'd love to hear him read it again." For many, the fascination endures. "Professor Lishan took us on a journey," another student said, "not only into the pages of James Joyce, but also into the writer's life and Irish homeland. I found that I had rather enjoyed Joyce, despite my earlier trepidation. Even after the quarter had ended, I picked up the work and enjoyed it."

Michael E. Mangino

Professor

Department of Food Science and Technology

Professor Mangino practices every kind of teaching, from individualized instruction to mega classes. In a typical year, he may teach 700 students as diverse as five high schoolers working on science fair projects, 650 freshmen nonscientists in Biology 101, 50 undergraduate food science majors, and three doctoral students. Professor Mangino tirelessly prepares study guides and has posted lecture notes, past exams, and exercises on the World Wide Web. A nominator noted, "He has an open door policy that makes his office one of the busiest places on our campus." A student said, "On top of it all, he's one nice guy."

Franklin H. Proaño

Associate Professor

Division of Comparative Studies in the Humanities

Professor Proaño teaches literature, Spanish and women's studies. Above all, he teaches students to think. "Dr. Proaño makes me think about ideas long after the class is over," a student wrote. "He not only demands that students think, he believes that they can." Another said, "Dr. Proaño urges us to quarrel with our opinions — to change them, to shape them, or, if the case may be, to strengthen them." Students so value his teaching, many come back for more. "I signed up for as many courses as I could with this instructor, and I always came away with a new body of knowledge," wrote one nominator. Yet another testified, "Students return to this campus from Columbus in order to take additional courses from him."

Stephen W. Melville

Associate Professor

Departments of History of Art; Art, and English

Even fellow faculty admit they struggle to understand what Professor Melville teaches — the philosophy of art history. However, a colleague said, "Professor Melville brings to his field an amazing clarity in thinking and expression, noted frequently by his students." A nominator said, "Study is not just (rote) learning in his class. It's a process of developing creative thinking." A graduate student reported Professor Melville is "very, very kind and patiently explains difficult material." A second said, "Dr. Melville is thoughtful, encouraging and most generous with his time, knowledge and experience." Another said, "He is the trump card that draws students from around the country."

Kathleen A. Stone

Professor

Department of Adult Health and Illness

Professor Stone teaches graduate level classes in human physiology and pathophysiology as well as theoretical foundations of advanced nursing, a course which she revised to reflect the changes in nursing roles at the advanced level in the health care delivery system. "Her passion for teaching and education is evident through her ability to motivate and captivate students through her multimedia lectures," one student wrote. "She takes a true and genuine interest in her students." Another said, "The minute you meet her you know she loves to teach and knows her stuff."

Ronald M. Solomon

Professor

Department of Mathematics

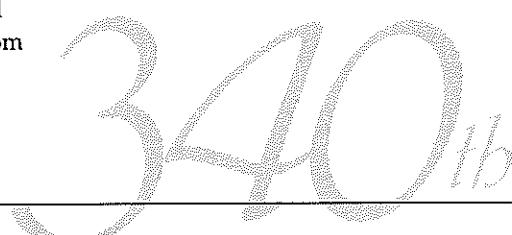

Professor Solomon is one of the world's leading authorities in algebra, but he's still willing to use student comments to improve his classes. A student noted, "Despite his obvious experience (in classrooms), he is clearly still learning himself." Professor Solomon uses history and humor to illustrate his lectures and grace and wit to motivate his students. One group was so motivated they showed up at his home to ask for assistance and insight. An undergraduate mathematics major said, "I found I could approach him with any question, basic or complex." An administrator said, "He expects hard work and excellent performances from his students, and he gets it."

Norman J. Uretsky

Professor

College of Pharmacy

Professor Uretsky teaches introductory and upper-level classes in pharmacology, as well as ocular pharmacology to senior students in the College of Optometry, and pharmacology for advanced nursing practice to graduate students in the College of Nursing. "His dedication to his students has been shown by his actions both inside and outside of the classroom," wrote one student. "It is this dedication that has had a lasting impact on the multitude of pharmacy students that have graduated from Ohio State." Another noted, "Professor Uretsky is not only a scholar but a true teacher and mentor with compassion and genuine concern for his students."

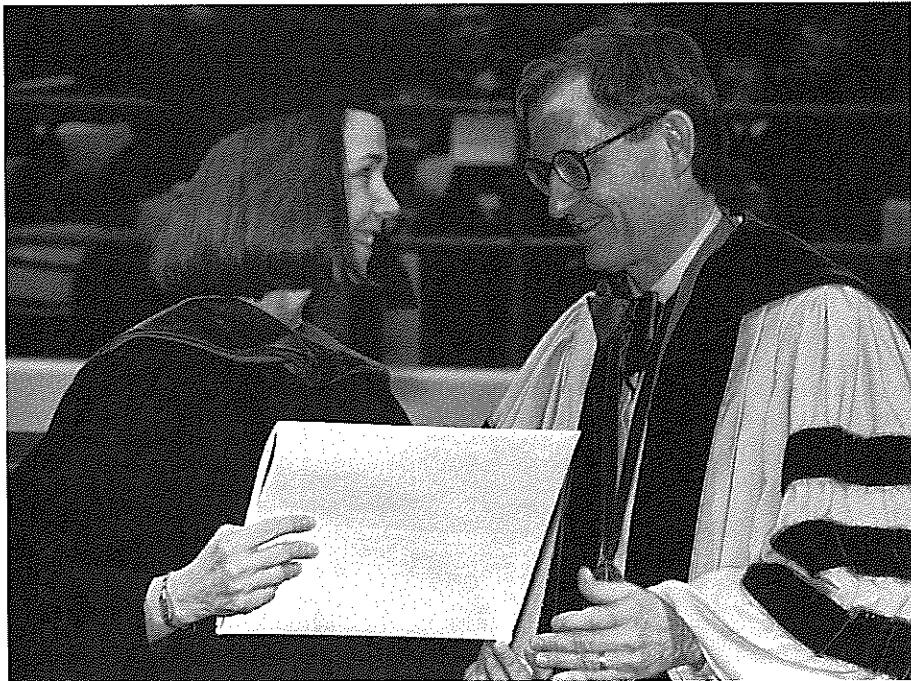

Commencement

THE DEPARTMENTAL TEACHING EXCELLENCE AWARD

Sponsored by the Office of Academic Affairs and The Ohio State University Alumni Association, the Departmental Teaching Excellence Award honors outstanding performance in teaching by two academic departments each year. The award recognizes the central role that undergraduate, graduate, and professional teaching plays in the university's mission, and further acknowledges that collective efforts are essential if individual efforts are to thrive. Excellent performance by many teachers ultimately determines the quality of a student's education. To be a finalist for this award is indeed an honor; to win it shows the highest commitment to teaching and learning. The 1997 award recipients are the Department of Chemical Engineering and the Department of History.

A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT GEE

Most of us measure our lives in year-long cycles, beginning in January and ending in December. But those of us in education observe a different calendar—one in which the year-end celebration is a graduation, and the days are counted in quarters or semesters.

For college students, the cycle begins that first autumn when they arrive on campus and advances through classes and exams, vacations and summer jobs, until commencement day finally arrives. And that day comes once each quarter when students from Ohio State graduate to the cheers of proud relatives and friends.

Now, these newly minted alumni will look back briefly and move on, shifting into the day-to-day rhythms of hoped-for employment. They will leave behind late nights filled with cold pizza and hot debate. No more 7:30 in the morning classes, but instead a 7:30 commute to the office. No more papers due for class, but reports due for work. They will trade their backpacks for briefcases, their ball caps for business suits.

There is no doubt that they have been changed by their college experience. Those years spent at a major research university represent not only a growth in knowledge, but a growth in wisdom and common sense—a maturing process that prepares a student for life in the “real world.” And that world does not stand still.

We need only look at the capitals of the world and the corporations of America to realize that powerful forces have been at work. During the time it has taken this most recent crop of graduates to complete their educations, the Soviet Union has come apart, Germany has come together, ethnic warfare has erupted, trade barriers have fallen, and once-mighty businesses have been brought to their knees by economic forces.

Today's graduates are being launched into a world made smaller by the media and larger by the scope of our global dilemmas: the environment, ethics, illiteracy, racism, sexism, revolution, protest, famine, and poverty.

The world is crying for the compassion and creativity of our graduates. And we need their considerable energy and ingenuity to resolve conflicts, regain civility, and restore our spirits.

That is why, for all of us, graduation is a time that renews our hope in the future. As I preside over Ohio State's commencement, I am impressed by the intelligence, dedication, and vigor of our new college graduates, young and not so young. And I feel an old, familiar feeling: optimism. Optimism about the actions our industries are taking to regain a competitive edge. Optimism about the adjustments education is making in response to a changing society. And most of all, optimism about and faith in this new generation that is about to take its place in our society.

Today as many of them leave school behind, their memories are bittersweet. One of Ohio State's engineering graduates sent me a letter that, I believe, captures the great joy we share in this special rite of passage and the strength of the educational process. She wrote, “There will be at least one chemical engineer with a tear in her eye as the national anthem is played, a lump in her throat as her college is introduced, a smile on her face as she gets her diploma, and a cry of joy as her father hugs her and says, ‘I am so proud of you!’”

It is a pride in which we can all share. I thank this graduate, and thousands like her, for all they will bring to our society. They are very bright. They work very hard. They have learned to live without security, but they continue to seek it. They are ready not only to cope with change, but to create change. And they have turned away from “me-ism” and are again seeking ways to help their fellow human beings.

I am confident that when this generation assumes leadership, America will be in very good hands.

CONGRATULATIONS AND WELCOME TO THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Congratulations on receiving your degree. You may not notice the difference, but today, along with hundreds of your colleagues, you have joined the ranks of Ohio State alumni. For you, one era has passed, and another is about to begin.

You are a member of the Buckeye family and partner in the enterprise, carrying the reputation of Ohio State through your activities and accomplishments. You exemplify the fruits of a good education: a critical mind, a discerning spirit, higher values, a sense of commitment, and the privilege of service.

You can assist the university in many ways. You can recruit new and highly qualified students. You can represent Ohio State well through personal and occupational achievements. You can participate financially through the Development Fund. And you can work in an advisory capacity with the university to improve it and its programs to better prepare today's students for tomorrow's citizenship.

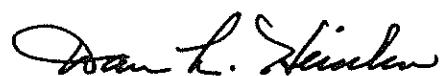

We extend to you a year's complimentary membership in the Alumni Association. Included is a year's subscription to the Ohio State Alumni Magazine, which will keep you informed of the university's continuing pursuit of excellence and help you keep in touch with your friends and classmates.

To you, your family, friends, and all those who helped you reach this day go our best wishes. You are joining a great family of Ohio State alumni working together to make a difference around the world.

Graduates with Honors

Criteria for graduating with honors are as follows:

Summa Cum Laude designates those graduating in the top 3% of the class.

Magna Cum Laude designates those graduating in the top 6% of the class.

Cum Laude designates those graduating in the top 10% of the class.

With Distinction requires successful completion of a Senior Honors Thesis and graduation in the top 25% of the class.

With Honors in the Liberal Arts requires successful completion of the Arts and Sciences Honors Contract and graduation in the top 25% of the class.

University Commendation designates those whose attainment of high academic standards is judged by the college to be especially meritorious.

This program is not an official graduation list

While every effort is made to ensure accuracy in this commencement program, printing deadlines sometimes prevent inclusion of graduates' names, or may result in use of names of persons not completing graduation requirements. This printed program, therefore, should not be used to determine a student's academic or degree status. The University's official registry for conferral of degrees is the student's permanent academic record, kept by the Office of The University Registrar, 202 Lincoln Tower, 1800 Cannon Drive, Columbus, Ohio 43210.

THE ACADEMIC COSTUME

The colorful ceremonies of The Ohio State University Commerce ments derive from practices originating in the Middle Ages. When European universities were taking form in the 12th and 13th centuries, the scholars were usually clerics, and consequently they adopted costumes similar to those of their monastic orders. Cold halls and drafty buildings called for caps and floor-length capes with attached hoods, and the sobering influence of the church probably influenced the staid character of the caps and gowns.

As the control of the universities gradually passed from the church, some aspects of the costumes took on brighter hues. Old prints and engravings, however, reveal a strong similarity between the regalia worn in early universities and that of the present day.

In the light of our nation's English heritage, academic costume has been in use in the United States since colonial times. To establish a standard of uniformity in regard to the practice, an intercollegiate commission was formed to prepare a code for caps, gowns, and hoods that has since been adopted by all academic institutions.

Originally round, the shape of the cap is now the familiar mortarboard square—a shape which, according to ballad folklore, resembles a scholar's book. Legend also has it that the privilege of wearing a cap was the initial right of a freed Roman slave; the academic cap, therefore, has become a sign of the freedom of scholarship. The flowing gown has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it covers any dress that might indicate rank or social status. The hood, reserved at The Ohio State University for those receiving doctoral degrees, not only indicates the type of degree, but also is lined with the official colors of the university.

The Gown

Bachelor: Black, full cut with long pointed sleeves.

Master: Black, long or short sleeves with a reshaped panel extended for each sleeve.

Doctor: Black with velvet panels on front of gown and three velvet bars on each sleeve. Color of the velvet may be black or distinctive of the field of study.

Honors Emblem

The Ohio State University honors emblem is a scarlet and gray tasseled braid worn over the gown. Students eligible for this curricular honor are those graduating summa cum laude, magna cum laude, cum laude, with distinction, with honors in the liberal arts, and with honors in pharmacy.

The Hood

Bachelor: Three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Master: Three and one-half feet long with a three-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Doctor: Four feet in length with a five-inch-wide velvet edging and panel at the sides.

* Not usually worn by candidates for a degree.

The lining of all hoods, which is folded out, bears the official colors of the institution granting the degree.

The color of the velvet indicates the field of study:

Dentistry	Lilac
Law	Purple
Medicine	Green
Musical Arts	Pink
Optometry	Seafoam Green
Pharmacy	Olive Green
Philosophy	Dark Blue
Veterinary Medicine	Gray

Cap and Tassel

Candidates for degrees at The Ohio State University wear the black mortarboard with a tassel whose color is distinctive of the degree being received. The tassel colors are as follows:

Graduate School	Black
Colleges of the Arts and Sciences
College of the Arts (B.A., B.S.I.D.)	White
(Others)	Brown
School of Music (B.A.)	White
(Others)	Pink
College of Biological Sciences	White
College of Humanities	White
College of Mathematical and Physical Sciences	White
College of Social and Behavioral Sciences	White
School of Journalism	Crimson
Max M. Fisher College of Business	Drab
School of Public Policy

College of Medicine	Green
School of Allied Medical Professions	Green
College of Nursing	Apricot
College of Optometry	Seafoam Green
College of Pharmacy	Olive Green
College of Social Work	Citron
College of Veterinary Medicine	Gray

The gold tassel is worn frequently by those holding the doctoral degree and by college and university administrative officers.

Photographs

As a courtesy to those persons receiving degrees today, please remain seated in the stands until the graduates have received their diplomas and have moved past the stadium gates. Photographs may be taken from the stands at any time during the ceremony. However, only press photographers will be permitted on the field.
