ABOUT TODAY'S CEREMONY

Today's ceremony on the Oval is a departure from recent tradition at Ohio State, but it is not a first. During the university's first 50 years, commencement took place on or around the Oval, including outdoor ceremonies in 1909 and 1918 very near today's site. Ohio Stadium, site of most spring commencements since 1927, is currently under renovation and unavailable for use. Our desire to maintain the tradition of all graduates at one ceremony necessitated a return to this historic spot in the academic center of the university.

Photography

A professional photographer has been retained to take a photograph of each graduate as the diploma is received. Because of the large number of graduates, and because there is no suitable area from which to take photos of diploma distribution, guests are asked to remain in their seats. A free color print of the photograph will be mailed to the graduate's permanent address within one month after graduation. You may purchase additional photos, but are not obligated to do so.

A Commencement video produced by WOSU-TV is available for purchase from The Ohio State University Alumni Association. Call (614) 292-4438 for more information.

Excerpts from the Commencement ceremony will be broadcast on WOSU-TV, Channel 34, at 5:30 p.m. today.

President Kirwan looks forward to personally congratulating graduates and their guests immediately following the ceremony in front of Bricker Hall, on the north side of the Oval.

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Dumisa Buhle Ntsebeza

Dumisa Ntsebeza, acting judge on the Cape High Court of South Africa and attorney with Ntsebeza Incorporated, served as head of the investigative unit of South Africa's Truth and Reconciliation Commission, formed by President Nelson Mandela in 1995.

A native of Transkei, South Africa, Justice Ntsebeza attended the University of Fort Hare, but was expelled for his role in a student strike. He became a teacher, but remained very active in the protest movement against apartheid. In 1976, he and his younger brother were detained for six months by the South African government and sentenced to four years in prison, during which time he completed his higher education. Upon his release in 1981, he joined the law firm Sangoni Partnership and gained a reputation for defending the politically persecuted. He was the founding president of the National Association of Democratic Lawyers.

Justice Ntsebeza has been described by the Mail & Guardian of South Africa as an "unsung hero of the struggle," noting that he "suffered detention, trial, banishment, and dirty tricks" during the apartheid era. In 1995, he was appointed to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission, chaired by Archbishop Desmond Tutu. The commission was founded to investigate human rights abuses committed by all sides in the struggle against apartheid from 1960 to 1994. In addition to his duties as investigative chief, he served as TRC chair in Archbishop Tutu's absence. The commission's official duties ended in 1998, but its Amnesty Committee continues to consider applications for amnesty in cases involving human rights violations during apartheid.

In a move to transform the white-male dominated judiciary of South Africa, Justice Ntsebeza and 16 other black lawyers were named acting judges in February 1999.

Ohio State is privileged to welcome Justice Ntsebeza to our country, to our state, and to our university to address today's graduates.

RECIPIENTS OF HONORS

Elias Burstein

Doctor of Science

Over a distinguished career that spanned more than half a century, Elias Burstein has investigated the optical properties of metals, semiconductors, and insulators, making seminal contributions to the field of condensed matter physics. One of the world's leading solid state physicists, Dr. Burstein has been a pioneer in the field of semiconductors.

A native of Brooklyn, New York, Dr. Burstein received a B.A. degree in chemistry and physics from Brooklyn College in 1938 and a M.A. degree in chemistry from the University of Kansas in 1941. He is now the Mary Amanda Wood Professor Emeritus of Physics at the University of Pennsylvania.

While working at the Naval Research Laboratory on multiple other research projects, he discovered and explained an optical phenomenon now known as the "Burstein Shift." He served as head of the physics section's crystal and semiconductor branches before joining the University of Pennsylvania as a professor of physics in 1958. He held visiting professorships at the University of California at Irvine, the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, and the University of Parma in Italy.

He has long promoted international scientific relations, facilitating interaction through his editorship of professional journals, his extensive organization of conferences, his personal contacts, and his humanitarian efforts on behalf of scientists worldwide. He is held in great esteem as a teacher, and a large number of his former students have gone on to distinguished careers of their own.

Dr. Burstein is a member of the National Academy of Sciences and has served as chair of the Solid State Committee of the Academy's National Research Council. He is founder and editor-in-chief of Solid State Communications, a leading international physics journal, and coeditor of Comments on Condensed Matter Physics. His many honors include the John Price Wetherill Medal of the Franklin Institute in 1979 and the Frank Isakson Prize of the American Physical Society in 1986.

Ohio State proudly adds its own honor to those already held by this eminent teacher, researcher, and scientific statesman.

Lawrence J. DeLucas

Doctor of Science

As scientist, optometrist, and astronaut, Lawrence J. DeLucas has made notable contributions to the fields of vision science, space science, crystallography, and medicine.

Currently professor of optometry at the University of Alabama at Birmingham, Dr. DeLucas has the distinction of being the first optometrist in space, having participated in the 1992 NASA Space Shuttle Microgravity Laboratory Mission as a payload specialist.

Dr. DeLucas and his research team at the University of Alabama pioneered the development of protein crystallography under weightless conditions, and he was selected by NASA to develop a new technique for growing protein crystals in space. He has directed experiments on more than 40 space shuttle missions, including one on John Glenn's recent flight. NASA has recognized him with its Research Award, Space Flight Medal, and Public Service Medal.

His work in crystallizing proteins in microgravity is leading to new medications and treatments for a variety of diseases, including diabetes, AIDS, cancer, cardiovascular problems, influenza, and malaria, many of which have ocular complications. He has formed an international collaboration with scientists from six Latin American countries to develop new pharmaceuticals for the treatment of infectious diseases. His work in international relations has been recognized with the Order of Rio Branco and rank of Commander for the Government of Brazil in 1997.

A prolific writer, Dr. DeLucas has coauthored two books on protein crystal growth and more than 80 articles for professional journals. He is co-inventor on three patents for protein crystal growth and is principal investigator for numerous research projects totaling more than $62 million in grants. He recently demonstrated a low-power, high-intensity x-ray source, designed and constructed in part by Ohio State researchers, that will be used in the X-ray Crystallography Facility on the International Space Station.

Dr. DeLucas holds five degrees from the University of Alabama at Birmingham: B.S. and M.S. in chemistry, 1972 and 1974; B.S. in vision science, 1979; Doctor of Optometry, 1981; and Ph.D. in biochemistry, 1982. In addition to his primary appointment as professor of optometry, he is director of the UAB Comprehensive Cancer Center X-Ray Care facility, and the UAB Center for Crystallography.

Ohio State is proud to honor the many and far-ranging achievements of this distinguished man of science.

RECIPIENTS OF HONORS

David W. Longaberger

Doctor of Business Administration

David W. Longaberger, founder and chair of the Longaberger Company and a longtime friend of Ohio State, passed away in March after a battle with cancer. The company he founded in Dresden, Ohio, is today the largest manufacturer of handmade baskets in the United States. The privately held, family owned $700 million direct-selling company has been recognized by Forbes magazine as one of the nation's 500 largest privately held companies.

A native of Dresden, Ohio, Mr. Longaberger was one of 12 children born to basketmaker J.W. Longaberger and his wife, Bonnie. An ambitious child, he struggled through school and worked at a variety of jobs before buying a small restaurant and, later, a grocery store in Dresden. In 1973, he launched his basketmaking company with five weavers. As the company grew, it moved into a renovated woolen mill, where Mr. Longaberger's mother had once worked. In 1990, the company opened a modern manufacturing facility outside Dresden, and recently it opened its home office in nearby Newark. The office, a seven-story replica of a woven basket, houses more than 500 Longaberger employees. The company employs more than 7,000 people and is represented by 47,000 independent sales associates throughout the nation.

A strong believer in the need for companies to invest in their own communities, Mr. Longaberger and his daughters, Tami and Rachel, established the Longaberger Foundation to provide funding for projects and programs designed to strengthen communities, families, and individuals. The Foundation's philanthropic efforts at Ohio State include the Dave Longaberger Endowed Chair in Urology, the Longaberger Alumni House, the Longaberger First-Year Student Institute, the Longaberger Medical Research Fund, the Longaberger Scholarship Fund, along with support for facility improvements at the Frank W. Hale Jr. Black Cultural Center, and gifts to the Colleges of Human Ecology and Optometry.

Mr. Longaberger was sought as a speaker by aspiring entrepreneurs and business people, sharing the knowledge he acquired through his business successes. He was the recipient of a number of honors for corporate social responsibility.

Among his awards were the Direct Selling Association's inaugural Vision for Tomorrow Award in 1990 and induction into its Hall of Fame; the 1991 Take Pride in America Award, sponsored by the U.S. Department of the Interior; Inc. magazine's first-ever Socially Responsible Entrepreneur Award in 1992; a national award for "helping families and children succeed" from the U.S. Senate and Childhelp U.S.A.; the 1994 Ohio Friend of Education Award; and the 1997 Ellis Island Medal of Honor Award. He is the recipient of an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters from Muskingum College.

Ohio State honors the legacy of generosity and caring left by this dedicated community citizen and advocate for education.

RECIPIENTS OF HONORS

Loann Crane

Distinguished Service Award

Lone of Columbus' most respected community leaders, Loann Crane is a director of Crane Plastics Company, partner in the Winning Images art consulting firm, and president of Fairwood Investment Company.

Mrs. Crane, a native of Martins Ferry, Ohio, received her B.A. degree in Spanish from Ohio State in 1947 and has remained a supportive and loyal friend of the university since. She is actively involved in a wide range of university-related projects, including programs in the humanities, the arts, athletics, and business. A member of The Ohio State University Foundation Board since 1990, she currently serves as co-chair of the Columbus area National Major Gift Committee for the university's "Affirm Thy Friendship" campaign.

Mrs. Crane is committed to encouraging other women to become philanthropists and was instrumental in organizing "Experience Ohio State Day," an opportunity for alumnae to interact with faculty and students and to become better acquainted with the broad spectrum of research and teaching on campus. In 1996, she received one of the university's first John B. Gerlach Outstanding Volunteer awards, and the Alumni Association awarded her a 1998 Alumni Citizenship Award.

As a member of the College of Humanities Development Council since 1990, Mrs. Crane has established the Crane Fund for Hispanic Studies to support study-abroad programs. She has taken a leadership role in establishing the College of Humanities' new World Media and Culture Center, which will provide state-of-the-art language training. Along with her family, she has also established the Crane Professorship in Strategic Marketing in the Fisher College of Business.

Her community involvement is extensive. She currently serves as a trustee of the Columbus Museum of Art, the Upper Arlington Public Library Foundation, and Arts Midwest. She is a director of Dialogue magazine, Pro Musica, and United Way Planned Giving, and president of the Columbus Arts Endowment. She is a past chair of the Board of Trustees of the Greater Columbus Arts Council and the Columbus College of Art and Design. Her volunteer activities have been recognized by numerous awards, including the 1997 Philanthropist of the Year Award from the National Society of Fund Raising Executives of Central Ohio.

It is with great appreciation that Ohio State recognizes the friendship extended to it by this remarkable alumna.

Alex Shumate

Distinguished Service Award

Alex Shumate is managing partner of the Columbus office of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, an international law firm. He is also partner-in-charge of the firm's legislative counseling and administrative law practice group.

A member of the Ohio State Board of Trustees from 1989 to 1998, Mr. Shumate served as board chair from 1997 to 1998. During his tenure on the board, he served on the two presidential search committees that recruited E. Gordon Gee and William E. Kirwan to Ohio State. As committee chair, he played a pivotal role in President Kirwan's decision to accept the presidency, and, as board chair, he skillfully guided the university through a period of transition.

Mr. Shumate also led the board of trustees in the University Governance Project, an evaluation process that produced a three-year strategic agenda for board action in partnership with the university's leadership. His service to Ohio State has also included directorships on the university's Foundation board and the Arthur G. James Cancer Hospital and Richard J. Solove Research Institute board and membership on the College of Law's National Council.

Mr. Shumate received his B.A. degree in political science from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1972 and his J.D. from the University of Akron in 1975. He joined Squire, Sanders & Dempsey in 1988 as a member of the firm's public law practice. Prior to that, he served as chief counsel and deputy chief of staff to the governor of Ohio from 1985 to 1988 and as assistant attorney general of Ohio from 1975 to 1983.

Recognized for his strong dedication to the advancement of higher education, Mr. Shumate is sought as a speaker and advisor on education issues, recently giving the keynote address to the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges (NASULGC).

He currently serves on a number of corporate, civic, and professional boards. He is first vice chair of the Greater Columbus Chamber of Commerce and vice chair of The Columbus Foundation.

Among his many honors are the 1994 Outstanding Law School Alumni Award from the University of Akron, the 1995 Robert S. Crane Trusteeship Award from Leadership Columbus, and the Jewish National Fund's Tree of Life Award in 1998. He has also been recognized by the Columbus Bar Association, the United Negro College Fund, the NAACP, the Ohio General Assembly, the Capital University School of Law, and Ohio State's College of Law.

Ohio State proudly extends its gratitude for the service done for the greater good of the university by its loyal and committed friend.

1999 ACADEMY OF TEACHING INDUCTEES

The Academy of Teaching represents excellence in teaching and reflects Ohio State's commitment to quality education. Membership in the Academy of Teaching is a great honor, reserved for recipients of the Alumni Award for Distinguished Teaching. Its members are charged with promoting, enhancing, and recognizing good teaching. Their projects include mentoring young faculty members, helping prepare graduate students for teaching, serving as consultants and reviewers for departments, and advising the president and the chief academic officers on important issues relating to teaching.

William V. Ackerman

*Assistant Professor of Geography
The Ohio State University, Lima*

Professor Ackerman is the geography department at the Lima campus. Considered an exceptional teacher, he also has developed research projects that benefit the Lima community, including studies on crime in small cities. A faculty member since 1993, Professor Ackerman teaches three geography courses and offers night sections to accommodate working adult students. He also has established a student internship program with regional planners. Students and colleagues praise Professor Ackerman as a gifted teacher whose classes are a joy to take. "While the class was not easy, he made the subject relevant and exciting," wrote one student. Another "especially enjoyed his stories about geography adventures in South America." Capitalizing on students' natural curiosity about local weather, Professor Ackerman has installed an electronic weather station in the hallway outside his office. Many students stop by to observe changes in the local weather and end up in his classes.

Scott L. DeWitt

*Associate Professor of English
The Ohio State University, Marion*

Praised by students as an innovative and inspiring teacher, Professor DeWitt similarly is recognized by colleagues as one of the finest teachers on campus. A faculty member since 1992, he teaches a range of courses from freshman English composition to advanced writing. Professor DeWitt is a leader in bringing technology to the classroom. His students use computers exclusively to compose their papers, use the Internet as a research tool, and use Web sites for interaction and additional learning. He also offers classes to faculty and community members on using the Internet as a teaching tool. His availability to students at all hours is indicative of Professor DeWitt's commitment to teaching. "There were many nights where I would e-mail a paper to Dr. DeWitt at 11 p.m. and would receive feedback on it before midnight," wrote one student.

Cynthia B. Dillard

*Associate Professor of Integrated Teaching and Learning
School of Teaching and Learning
College of Education*

Professor Dillard has made her mark on the College of Education faculty since coming to Ohio State in 1994. "Dr. Dillard is the reason many minorities have come to OSU, the basis for their staying, and a key contributor to their professional success," a colleague wrote. "Her classes are oversubscribed and receive rave reports." Regarded as a gifted teacher, she also receives high praise for her work as assistant dean for diversity and outreach, a post she has held since 1995. She is credited with creating programming to support students and engaging faculty and students in forums dealing with diversity issues. Professor Dillard teaches graduate courses in multicultural education, and elementary curriculum and supervision. "She teaches from the heart and with such soul searching and profound reflection," a student wrote. "I felt that she learned things in my classes—not that she was an authority and we were empty vessels."

Christopher Mark Grimsley

*Associate Professor of History
College of Humanities*

One student was so moved by Professor Grimsley's flair for storytelling that "there were times I wanted to cry and many I wanted to laugh" during his lectures. "He conveyed the course material with such power and zeal that many times I couldn't wait until the next class." A faculty member since 1992, Professor Grimsley wrote the award-winning The Hard Hand of War: Union Military Policy Toward Southern Civilians, 1861-1865 (1995). Also the author of numerous chapters and articles as an expert in American military history and the Civil War, Professor Grimsley teaches both undergraduate history survey courses and graduate seminars in military history. He also leads an annual instructional survey of the Antietam and Gettysburg battlefields. Lauded by colleagues for excelling at teaching both large lecture classes and small upper-division courses, Professor Grimsley received the 1997 Ben M. Jones III Award for Distinguished Undergraduate Teaching in the College of Humanities.

Michelle R. Herman

*Associate Professor of English
College of Humanities*

Professor Herman joined Ohio State's English faculty in 1988 after earning an M.F.A. and serving as an instructor in the renowned Iowa Writer's Workshop at the University of Iowa. An author of numerous essays and stories, her publications include A New and Glorious Life (1998), a collection of novellas, and the award-winning novel Missing (1990). Professor Herman directs the Creative Writing Program and was instrumental in its planning. Students commend Professor Herman for the time she is willing to take in one-on-one appointments: "Her outside-of-class commitment is unparalleled," one student wrote, while another noted, "Her dedication to her students is superhuman." Students also note her knowledge of the literary publishing world translates into especially effective teaching of critiquing practices and an appreciation for the art of writing. Professor Herman also receives praise from colleagues for her success at teaching at every level of the curriculum.

Terrell A. Morgan

*Associate Professor of Spanish Linguistics
College of Humanities*

Immersing students in the Spanish language and culture is the technique Professor Morgan uses with his students. Students say his innovative teaching techniques motivate them to learn real-life applications of the language. "He recently showed a clip of Disney's The Little Mermaid in Spanish to illustrate pronoun usage," a student noted. A faculty member since 1984, Professor Morgan is the author of numerous papers in print or press and two books in progress, and has delivered more than three dozen presentations and lectures. Professor Morgan teaches upper-level Spanish classes and leads seminars abroad to introduce students to Hispanic culture. His main areas of interest are Spanish pronunciation and phonology, and Spanish and Hispanic culture. Students repeatedly call him the best teacher they've ever had and say his enthusiasm inspires them to study with rigor. Colleagues say he is completely natural as a successful and effective teacher.

Robert J. Scherrer

*Professor of Physics and Astronomy
College of Mathematical and Physical Sciences*

"Cosmic Bob" is the affectionate nickname Professor Scherrer has earned among physics students, who speak highly of his teaching abilities. Known for his clear communication in a wide range of settings, from public lectures to advanced graduate courses, Professor Scherrer also is known for his "easy, affable style and dry, sometimes mischievous, wit." Also a highly respected researcher in the field of cosmology, Professor Scherrer has earned enthusiastic reviews from students in all levels of the physics curriculum and is lauded by colleagues for the breadth and depth of his teaching. He produced a series of lectures for physics majors addressing concerns such as career opportunities and graduate school application. He also has a reputation within the department as the person to turn to when a course needs revitalization. Professor Scherrer joined the Ohio State faculty in 1989 and received the Physics Teacher of the Year Award the following year.

Todd L. Lowary

*Assistant Professor of Chemistry
College of Mathematical and Physical Sciences*

A faculty member since 1996, Professor Lowary maintains personal connections with his students while enhancing his teaching with technology. He developed the Organic Chemistry Resource Page, the first World Wide Web page for an organic chemistry course at the university. Its impact extends beyond Ohio State; students from other universities write to thank the department for the service. Professor Lowary's students say he made a much-feared course an enjoyable experience. "Organic [chemistry] is...dreaded by almost all students," wrote one former pupil. "Because of Dr. Lowary, I was not only able to bear it, I LIKED it!" Students also praise him for tutoring them patiently—even if they need only general academic advice. Professor Lowary has built an extensive research group of graduate and undergraduate students. His former students have published research in leading journals and have obtained positions in medical schools, top graduate schools, and the pharmaceutical industry.

Diane M. Sainato

*Associate Professor of Special Education
School of Physical Activity and Educational Services
College of Education*

In both her teaching and research, Professor Sainato has shown dedication to improving the quality of life for young children with severe disabilities. She is responsible for teaching part of the core of the undergraduate special education pre-licensure program. She also initiated the master's program for teachers of young children with disabilities and began the teacher certification program in this area when she arrived at Ohio State in 1989. Her presence has made an impact on the college: "With someone of Dr. Sainato's caliber, The Ohio State University is able to recruit seasoned professionals like myself to continue higher education," a former student wrote. A coeditor of a book on behavior analysis in education, Professor Sainato also jointly teaches an Internet course on teaching special education students in the inclusive classroom. Her technique receives praise from students: "She promotes critical thinking and professional growth as part of her instruction."

John C. Thrasher

*Assistant Professor of Art
The Ohio State University, Mansfield*

Students' compliments of Professor Thrasher center on three themes: their view of him as a friend and a faculty member, his encouragement of their individual style development, and his willingness to be helpful. One student summed it all up by writing, "John Thrasher rules!!" Professor Thrasher won the Mansfield Campus Outstanding Teacher Award in 1995, his first year as a faculty member. In addition to praising his teaching, many students acknowledge his obvious devotion to art. As coordinator and instructor of all visual arts curricula on the campus, Professor Thrasher teaches drawing, painting, visual studies, and concepts and issues in art. An Ohio State M.F.A. graduate, he also taught life drawing and ceramic hand-building classes as a graduate teaching associate, instructor, and lecturer on the Columbus campus from 1992 to 1995. His works have been exhibited throughout Ohio and Kentucky and in Denver, Pittsburgh, and Manama, Bahrain.

THE DEPARTMENTAL TEACHING EXCELLENCE AWARD

Sponsored by the Office of Academic Affairs and The Ohio State University Alumni Association, the Departmental Teaching Excellence Award honors outstanding performance in teaching by two academic departments each year. The award recognizes the central role that undergraduate, graduate, and professional teaching plays in the university's mission and further acknowledges that collective efforts are essential if individual efforts are to thrive. Excellent performance by many teachers ultimately determines the quality of a student's education. To be a finalist for this award is indeed an honor; to win it shows the highest commitment to teaching and learning.

The 1999 award recipients are the Department of Pediatrics and the Department of Physics.

A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT KIRWAN

It is appropriate that this—the 348th Commencement of The Ohio State University—take place on the university's most notable landmark, the Oval. In a real sense, the Oval is the crossroads of our campus. It is the place where many things converge: old friends and new ideas, light banter and serious conversation, noisy exchanges and quiet reflection. Here in the shadow of the William Oxley Thompson Library and in the shade of oak trees, academic purpose merges with collegiate life, just as it does today with this Commencement ceremony.

You, the members of the class of 1999, come to this crossroads of the campus today to mark a crossroads in your lives. As you move forward from this occasion, I am certain you will cherish always your days at this remarkable university, a place that has helped forge the paths your lives will follow, a place that is the source of friendships you will enjoy throughout your lifetime, and a place that will be the font of wonderful memories in the years to come. British Poet Laureate John Masefield expressed well the enduring character of a university. He said:

*"There are few earthly things more beautiful than a university.
It is a place where those who hate ignorance may strive to know,
Where those who perceive truth may strive to make others see;
Where seekers and learners alike, banded together in the search for knowledge,
Will honor thought in all its finer ways,
Will welcome thinkers in distress or in exile,
Will uphold ever the dignity of thought and learning
And will exact standards in these things."*

Ohio State is and always will be such a place for you. This university has prepared you well for what we hope will be a lifetime of productivity, personal fulfillment, and civic responsibility. No matter where future opportunities may take you, The Ohio State University will always be with you—as a primary source of your education and some of your fondest memories. Through time and change, you will always be Buckeyes.

Today, your families and friends, your faculty and mentors recognize your hard work and celebrate your notable achievements. Tomorrow, we will begin to follow your new accomplishments with great pride. We have no doubt of the success you will enjoy in your careers and your communities. Please know of my personal best wishes as you join the company of educated women and men and the more than 300,000 proud graduates of The Ohio State University.

CONGRATULATIONS AND WELCOME TO THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Congratulations on receiving your degree. You may not notice the difference, but today, along with hundreds of your colleagues, you have joined the ranks of Ohio State alumni. For you, one era has passed and another is about to begin.

You are a member of the Buckeye family and partner in the enterprise, carrying the reputation of Ohio State through your activities and accomplishments. You exemplify the fruits of a good education: a critical mind, a discerning spirit, higher values, a sense of commitment, and the privilege of service.

You can assist the university in many ways. You can recruit new and highly qualified students. You can represent Ohio State well through personal and occupational achievements. You can participate financially through the Development Fund. And you can work in an advisory capacity with the university to improve it and its programs to better prepare today's students for tomorrow's citizenship.

We extend to you a year's complimentary membership in the Alumni Association. Included is a year's subscription to the Ohio State Alumni Magazine, which will keep you informed of the university's continuing pursuit of excellence and help you keep in touch with your friends and classmates.

This program is not an official graduation list

While every effort is made to ensure accuracy in this commencement program, printing deadlines sometimes prevent inclusion of graduates' names, or may result in use of names of persons not completing graduation requirements. This printed program, therefore, should not be used to determine a student's academic or degree status. The University's official registry for conferral of degrees is the student's permanent academic record, kept by the Office of The University Registrar, 202 Lincoln Tower, 1800 Cannon Drive, Columbus, Ohio 43210.

Graduates with Honors

Criteria for graduating with honors are as follows:

Summa Cum Laude designates those graduating in the top 3% of the class.

Magna Cum Laude designates those graduating in the top 6% of the class.

Cum Laude designates those graduating in the top 10% of the class.

With Distinction requires successful completion of a Senior Honors Thesis and graduation in the top 25% of the class.

With Honors in the Liberal Arts requires successful completion of the Arts and Sciences Honors Contract and graduation in the top 25% of the class.

University Commendation designates those whose attainment of high academic standards is judged by the college to be especially meritorious.

THE ACADEMIC COSTUME

The colorful ceremonies of The Ohio State University Commencements derive from practices originating in the Middle Ages. When European universities were taking form in the 12th and 13th centuries, the scholars were usually clerics, and consequently they adopted costumes similar to those of their monastic orders. Cold halls and drafty buildings called for caps and floor-length capes with attached hoods, and the sobering influence of the church probably influenced the staid character of the caps and gowns.

As the control of the universities gradually passed from the church, some aspects of the costumes took on brighter hues. Old prints and engravings, however, reveal a strong similarity between the regalia worn in early universities and that of the present day.

In the light of our nation's English heritage, academic costume has been in use in the United States since colonial times. To establish a standard of uniformity in regard to the practice, an intercollegiate commission was formed to prepare a code for caps, gowns, and hoods that has since been adopted by all academic institutions.

Originally round, the shape of the cap is now the familiar mortarboard square—a shape which, according to ballad folklore, resembles a scholar's book. Legend also has it that the privilege of wearing a cap was the initial right of a freed Roman slave; the academic cap, therefore, has become a sign of the freedom of scholarship. The flowing gown has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it covers any dress that might indicate rank or social status. The hood, reserved at The Ohio State University for those receiving doctoral degrees, not only indicates the type of degree, but also is lined with the official colors of the university.

The Gown

Bachelor: Black, full cut with long pointed sleeves.

Master: Black, long or short sleeves with a reshaped panel extended for each sleeve.

Doctor: Black with velvet panels on front of gown and three velvet bars on each sleeve. Color of the velvet may be black or distinctive of the field of study.

Honors Emblem

The Ohio State University honors emblem is a scarlet and gray tasseled braid worn over the gown. Students eligible for this curricular honor are those graduating summa cum laude, magna cum laude, cum laude, with distinction, with honors in the liberal arts, and with honors in pharmacy.

The Hood

Bachelor: Three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Master: Three and one-half feet long with a three-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Doctor: Four feet in length with a five-inch-wide velvet edging and panel at the sides.

The lining of all hoods, which is folded out, bears the official colors of the institution granting the degree.

The color of the velvet indicates the field of study:

Dentistry	Lilac
Law	Purple
Medicine	Green
Musical Arts	Pink
Optometry	Seafoam Green
Pharmacy	Olive Green
Philosophy	Dark Blue
Veterinary Medicine	Gray

* Not usually worn by candidates for a degree.

Cap and Tassel

Candidates for degrees at The Ohio State University wear the black mortarboard with a tassel whose color is distinctive of the degree being received. The tassel colors are as follows:

Graduate School	Black
Colleges of the Arts and Sciences
College of the Arts (B.A., B.S.I.D.)	White
(Others)	Brown
School of Music (B.A.)	White
(Others)	Pink

The gold tassel is worn frequently by those holding the doctoral degree and by college and university administrative officers.

INCLEMENT WEATHER

No indoor facility on campus is large enough to accommodate the graduating class and 30,000 guests. In the case of inclement weather, every effort will be made to hold Commencement as planned. Commencement will take place on the Oval, unless weather conditions are dangerous or severe, in which case the ceremony will be canceled.

Ohio State officials will be in continuous contact with the National Weather Service to monitor approaching weather. If it is feasible to delay the start of the ceremony and wait for clearing or less severe weather, the start of the ceremony may be delayed up to one hour. Should this happen, any changes will be announced by 7:30 a.m., before graduates are required to report for Commencement. Your patience and cooperation will help facilitate this plan.

In case of cancellation

If it is determined that severe weather will not permit us to hold Commencement, the ceremony will be canceled. Once cancellation has been officially announced, graduates should report to the following locations one hour after cancellation to receive their diplomas.

It is strongly advised that graduates and guests prearrange a meeting place in case the ceremony is canceled. Guests should not go to the Ohio Union Ballrooms where most diplomas will be distributed to graduates.

Diplomas will remain in the following locations until 3 p.m. on Commencement day. Diplomas not picked up by 3 p.m. will be taken to the University Registrar's office in 1010 Lincoln Tower, 1800 Cannon Drive. Diplomas will be available for pick-up there between 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., June 14-18. If a diploma remains unclaimed after June 18, it will be mailed to the home address on record within one month of Commencement. Mailing addresses can be verified by calling the University Registrar's office at (614) 292-1960; fax (614) 292-4940; or e-mail at commence@exchange.ureg.ohio-state.edu.
