COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Edward E. Hagenlocker

Doctor of Science

Edward E. Hagenlocker was elected vice chairman of Ford Motor Company in 1996. He is responsible for an organization that includes the company's new Automotive Products Operations, land development, technical operations, and rental car operations.

Dr. Hagenlocker was formerly president of Ford Automotive Operations and chairman of Ford of Europe. Prior to that, he was executive vice president of Ford North American Automotive Operations since 1993.

A native of Marysville, Ohio, Dr. Hagenlocker earned both his B.S. in engineering physics and his M.S. in physics from Ohio State in 1962. He received his Ph.D. in physics from Ohio State in 1964. He also earned an M.B.A. degree from Michigan State University in 1982. As a student, he held a General Motors Scholarship and a National Science Foundation fellowship.

He joined Ford as a research scientist in 1964, and later held engineering management positions in a number of areas, including product development, chassis structures, body and electrical product engineering, and climate control. In 1978, he joined Truck Operations as chief engineer, then became product development manager. He was appointed general manager of the Climate Control Division in 1982. In 1984, he was named director-vice president of operations for Ford of Brazil, becoming director-president in 1985. He was elected a company vice president and named general manager of Truck Operations in 1986.

Dr. Hagenlocker has written several technical papers published in physics journals and is a member of the Society of Automotive Engineers and the Engineering Society of Detroit, which has honored him as Outstanding Young Engineer of the Year. He is also a member of the American Physical Society and the American Men of Science.

He has served on Ohio State's College of Engineering Mechanical Engineering Industrial Advisory Board and received that college's Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1979. In 1988, he was keynote speaker at the College of Engineering's Annual Conference of Engineers and Architects.

Ohio State welcomes this distinguished alumnus and industrial leader to address our graduating class.

RECIPIENTS OF HONORS

Sir James Black

Doctor of Science

Sir James Black is professor emeritus of analytical chemistry and head of the James Black Foundation at Kings College, London, England. He has been chancellor of the University of Dundee, Scotland, since 1992.

An internationally renowned pharmacologist, Sir James is credited with the development of two of the most widely prescribed drugs in the world: propranolol (Inderal) for the treatment of hypertension, and cimetidine (Tagamet) for peptic ulcers and gastric reflux disease. In 1988 he was awarded the Nobel Prize in medicine for these accomplishments.

A 1946 graduate in medicine from the University of St. Andrews, Scotland, he spent 12 years in academic physiology successively at the Universities of St. Andrews, Malaya, and Glasgow. In 1958, he joined Imperial Chemical Industries as a researcher where his special interest in cardiac physiology led to the discovery of pronethalol, the first clinically evaluated beta blocker and the predecessor to propranolol.

In 1964, he was named head of biological research at Smith, Kline and French Laboratories, where he and his research team discovered buramamide, the prototype of histamine receptor antagonist that led to cimetidine. Tagamet, the commercial version of cimetidine, is the first drug ever to exceed $1 billion in annual sales.

Sir James returned to academic research as professor of pharmacology at University College, London, from 1972 to 1977. He became director of therapeutic research at the Wellcome Foundation in 1978, and, in 1984, joined the faculty of Kings College, where he continues to interpret complex drug reactions using mathematical models. In 1988, he founded the James Black Foundation, an independent research organization for promoting the rational basis for new drug research. He is a strong advocate for pharmacological education and research at the university level and for a focused, scholarly approach to research.

Sir James' scientific contributions have been recognized with numerous awards, including knighthood in 1981. In 1988, he visited Ohio State to present a colloquium on drug research in the College of Pharmacy.

Ohio State is proud to recognize the unprecedented accomplishments of this eminent scholar, scientist, and educator.

Viktor E. Frankl

Doctor of Humane Letters

Viktor E. Frankl, M.D. is emeritus professor of neurology and psychiatry at the University of Vienna, Austria, and Distinguished Professor of Logotherapy at the U.S. International University in California.

One of the most prominent mental health professionals in the world today, Dr. Frankl is the founder of the Third Viennese School of Psychotherapy, known as logotherapy or existential analysis. Logotherapy is based on the belief that one seeks the meaning of life and that discovering the special significance of one's life is a psychologically healing process.

Dr. Frankl received his M.D. and his Ph.D. from the University of Vienna in 1930 and 1949 respectively. He was the founder and head of the Youth Counseling Centers in Vienna from 1928 to 1938.

From 1940 to 1942, he headed the neurology department at Vienna's Rothschild Hospital and, from 1946 to 1970, he was head of the Neurologic Poliklinik Hospital of Vienna. He joined the staff of the University of Vienna in 1947, becoming full professor in 1955.

From 1942 to 1945, Dr. Frankl was imprisoned in the Nazi concentration camps at Auschwitz and Dachau, an experience he describes in his groundbreaking book, Man's Search for Meaning (1959), which has sold more than 2 million copies and has been named one of the 10 most influential books in the American Library of Congress.

First published in 1924, he is the author of 31 books which have been translated into 25 languages, as well as numerous book chapters and scholarly articles. He is the recipient of a number of prestigious awards, including the American Psychiatric Association's Oskar Pfister Award, the Lifetime Achievement Award of the Foundation for Hospice and Homecare, the Albert Schweitzer Award, the Cardinal Innitzer Award, and the City of Vienna Ring of Honor.

He is a founding member and past president of the Austrian Medical Society for Psychotherapy and has been a frequent guest lecturer and visiting professor at universities throughout the world.

Ohio State proudly adds its own honor to the many already received by this eminent healer and philosopher for six decades of scholarship, compassion, and heroism.

Pancras John Mukasa Ssebuwufu

Doctor of Education

Pancras John Mukasa Ssebuwufu is chief academic and administrative officer of Makerere University, the premiere institution of higher education in Uganda.

Throughout the tumultuous years of the Amin and Obote regimes, Dr. Ssebuwufu tirelessly defended the high standards in science and technology he has espoused throughout his academic career.

A native of Kampala, Uganda, Dr. Ssebuwufu received his B.S. in chemistry from Makerere University in 1973. He completed his Ph.D. in inorganic chemistry at Queen's University in Belfast, Northern Ireland, in 1977 and worked there as a post doctoral research fellow in physical chemistry before returning to Makerere as a lecturer in chemistry in 1979. He was named senior lecturer and department chair in 1985. As department chair, he initiated, reformed, and designed new curricula in pure chemistry and industrial chemistry/chemical engineering. He assumed the vice chancellorship in 1993.

In addition to serving as Makerere's chief executive officer, Dr. Ssebuwufu chairs the Uganda Management Institute and the Uganda National Council for Science and Technology and is director of the National Agricultural Research Organization. He also serves on the boards of other national universities and higher education-related organizations. In 1996, he was named Administrator of the Year by the major daily newspaper,

The New Vision.

He has authored or coauthored more than 20 scholarly articles and papers and has served as a consultant to the Ugandan government and several private firms on a wide variety of chemistry-related issues.

A longtime friend of Ohio State, he has been a strong supporter of the three-decade collaborative relationship between Makerere and Ohio State, which includes an exchange of faculty members and students.

Ohio State proudly recognizes the leadership of this distinguished scientist and skillful administrator and praises his commitment to African higher education.

R. David Thomas

Doctor of Business Administration

R David Thomas is senior chairman and founder of Wendy's International, Inc., which, with its franchisees, operates more than 4,000 restaurants in the United States and throughout the world. As spokesperson for Wendy's in the company's television commercials, he has become a familiar face nationwide.

Mr. Thomas entered the work force at the age of 12. When he was 15, his family moved to Fort Wayne, Indiana, where he began working at Hobby House Restaurants, dropping out of school after the 10th grade to concentrate on work. After a stint in the U.S. Army, he returned to Hobby House as a short-order cook. In 1956, his boss bought a Kentucky Fried Chicken (KFC) franchise and Mr. Thomas met his "fast-food mentor," Colonel Harlan Sanders.

His career with KFC flourished after he negotiated a deal to revive four failing KFC carryouts in Columbus in exchange for part ownership. Six years later, he sold those restaurants and an additional four back to KFC for $1.5 million. He became KFC's regional operations director, traveling with Colonel Sanders and learning his business techniques. In 1969, Mr. Thomas opened the first Wendy's Old Fashioned Hamburgers restaurant in downtown Columbus, naming it after his daughter. The new chain grew rapidly, adding 1,000 units in its first 100 months.

Born in New Jersey, Mr. Thomas was adopted shortly after birth, an experience that has had a profound effect on his life. He is an impassioned advocate for adoption and served as national spokesperson for a White House initiative on adoption in 1990. He established the Dave Thomas Foundation for Adoption in 1992. In 1993, Mr. Thomas fulfilled a lifelong dream by passing his GED exam and receiving his high school diploma 45 years after leaving high school.

He has been a strong supporter of Ohio State through the years and was a founding member of The Arthur G. James Cancer Hospital and Research Institute Foundation. He continues to serve on the foundation's board and, in addition, has served on The Ohio State University Foundation Board and the Ohio State 4-H Foundation.

Ohio State is proud to recognize the many achievements of this energetic entrepreneur and community leader.

RECIPIENTS OF HONORS

David L. Meeker

Distinguished Service Award

During nearly three decades of service, David L. Meeker brought outstanding musical and administrative skills to Ohio State before his untimely death earlier this year.

Dr. Meeker received his B.S. in education from Miami University in 1956, his master's in music from the University of Michigan in 1960, and his Ph.D. from Kent State University in 1969. Following a three-year stint in the U.S. Air Force as a pilot, he began his career in 1960 as a public high school band director before joining the Ohio State faculty in 1968 as an assistant professor in music education.

He became assistant director of Ohio State's School of Music in 1974, full professor in 1977, and director of the School in 1979. He also served as associate dean of the College of the Arts from 1977 to 1988, when he retired as director/professor emeritus. He received the School of Music's Distinguished Teaching Award in 1970.

Following his retirement, Dr. Meeker maintained his active involvement with Ohio State's Marching Band, continuing to serve as the band's announcer on football Saturdays. He directed the TBDBITL Alumni Marching Band for 22 years, molding it into one of the most successful and well-known goodwill ambassadors for Ohio State. Under his direction, the band performed more than 100 engagements each year throughout the United States, as well as participated in parades in Osaka, Japan, and Dublin, Ireland.

In addition to raising funds for scholarships and instruments through Alumni Marching Band appearances, Dr. Meeker and his wife funded a music scholarship.

During his career, he became a regional and national leader in the music education profession, serving as president of the Ohio Music Education Association, which awarded him a Distinguished Service Award in 1993. He served as assistant director of the All-Ohio State Fair Band from 1970 to 1993 and was inducted into the Ohio State Fair Hall of Fame in 1996. He was also the recipient of TBDBITL's Script Ohio Award and Most Educational Bandsman Award.

During his final battle with cancer, he continued to serve the university as a spokesman for the Arthur G. James Cancer Hospital and Research Institute.

Ohio State gratefully recognizes the legacy of devotion and service left by this remarkable man.

Florence Zacks Melton

Distinguished Service Award

Florence Zacks Melton is the inventor of a variety of practical products, including removable shoulder pads, foam-soled slippers, and exercise and therapy equipment. Together with her first husband, Aaron Zacks, she founded the R. G. Barry Corporation in 1947, today a multi-million dollar business and the largest manufacturer of foam-soled slippers in the world. Mrs. Melton serves as consultant for product development and design.

A native of Philadelphia, she quit high school three months before graduation to help her family. Throughout her life, she has been a tireless advocate for improving educational experiences for everyone, with a particular emphasis on Jewish education.

With her second husband, Samuel M. Melton, she helped establish Ohio State's Melton Center for Jewish Studies in 1976. Shortly before her husband's death in 1993, Mrs. Melton played a major role in the creation of the Melton Coalition for Creative Interaction, an organization that promotes cooperative, interactive educational projects among established Melton Centers at Ohio State, the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York, and Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Mrs. Melton's service to the international Jewish community has been exemplary. She is a founding member of the Coalition for the Advancement of Jewish Education and is the developer of the Florence Melton Adult Mini School through Jerusalem's Hebrew University, a new approach to Jewish adult education currently in place in 24 communities in North America. Working with the National Council of Jewish Women, she developed a directory of services for teens called "Kids in Crisis," which has been widely distributed.

She is the recipient of numerous awards, including the B'nai B'rith Woman of the Year and Outstanding Citizenship awards, the Medal for Meritorious Service to Jewish Education from the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, and the Columbus Y.W.C.A. Women of Achievement Award. She was inducted into the Ohio Women's Hall of Fame in 1994.

It is with great pride that Ohio State recognizes the many distinguished contributions to her faith and to the future by this creative and dynamic woman.

A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT GEE

Most of us measure our lives in year-long cycles, beginning in January and ending in December. But those of us in education observe a different calendar—one in which the year-end celebration is a graduation, and the days are counted in quarters or semesters.

For college students, the cycle begins that first autumn when they arrive on campus and advances through classes and exams, vacations and summer jobs, until commencement day finally arrives. And that day comes once each quarter when students from Ohio State graduate to the cheers of proud relatives and friends.

Now, these newly minted alumni will look back briefly and move on, shifting into the day-to-day rhythms of hoped-for employment. They will leave behind late nights filled with cold pizza and hot debate. No more 7:30 in the morning classes, but instead a 7:30 commute to the office. No more papers due for class, but reports due for work. They will trade their backpacks for briefcases, their ball caps for business suits.

There is no doubt that they have been changed by their college experience. Those years spent at a major research university represent not only a growth in knowledge, but a growth in wisdom and common sense—a maturing process that prepares a student for life in the “real world.” And that world does not stand still.

We need only look at the capitals of the world and the corporations of America to realize that powerful forces have been at work. During the time it has taken this most recent crop of graduates to complete their educations, the Soviet Union has come apart, Germany has come together, ethnic warfare has erupted, trade barriers have fallen, and once-mighty businesses have been brought to their knees by economic forces.

Today’s graduates are being launched into a world made smaller by the media and larger by the scope of our global dilemmas: the environment, ethics, illiteracy, racism, sexism, revolution, protest, famine, and poverty.

The world is crying for the compassion and creativity of our graduates. And we need their considerable energy and ingenuity to resolve conflicts, regain civility, and restore our spirits.

That is why, for all of us, graduation is a time that renews our hope in the future. As I preside over Ohio State’s commencement, I am impressed by the intelligence, dedication, and vigor of our new college graduates, young and not so young. And I feel an old, familiar feeling: optimism. Optimism about the actions our industries are taking to regain a competitive edge. Optimism about the adjustments education is making in response to a changing society. And most of all, optimism about and faith in this new generation that is about to take its place in our society.

Today as many of them leave school behind, their memories are bittersweet. One of Ohio State’s engineering graduates sent me a letter that, I believe, captures the great joy we share in this special rite of passage and the strength of the educational process. She wrote, “There will be at least one chemical engineer with a tear in her eye as the national anthem is played, a lump in her throat as her college is introduced, a smile on her face as she gets her diploma, and a cry of joy as her father hugs her and says, ‘I am so proud of you!’”

It is a pride in which we can all share. I thank this graduate, and thousands like her, for all they will bring to our society. They are very bright. They work very hard. They have learned to live without security, but they continue to seek it. They are ready not only to cope with change, but to create change. And they have turned away from “me-ism” and are again seeking ways to help their fellow human beings.

I am confident that when this generation assumes leadership, America will be in very good hands.

E. Gordon Gee
President

This printed program, therefore, should not be used to determine a student's academic or degree status. The University's official registry for conferral of degrees is the student's permanent academic record, kept by the Office of The University Registrar, 202 Lincoln Tower, 1800 Cannon Drive, Columbus, Ohio 43210.

THE ACADEMIC COSTUME

The colorful ceremonies of The Ohio State University Commencements derive from practices originating in the Middle Ages. When European universities were taking form in the 12th and 13th centuries, the scholars were usually clerics, and consequently they adopted costumes similar to those of their monastic orders. Cold halls and drafty buildings called for caps and floor-length capes with attached hoods, and the sobering influence of the church probably influenced the staid character of the caps and gowns.

As the control of the universities gradually passed from the church, some aspects of the costumes took on brighter hues. Old prints and engravings, however, reveal a strong similarity between the regalia worn in early universities and that of the present day.

In the light of our nation's English heritage, academic costume has been in use in the United States since colonial times. To establish a standard of uniformity in regard to the practice, an intercollegiate commission was formed to prepare a code for caps, gowns, and hoods that has since been adopted by all academic institutions.

Originally round, the shape of the cap is now the familiar mortarboard square—a shape which, according to ballad folklore, resembles a scholar's book. Legend also has it that the privilege of wearing a cap was the initial right of a freed Roman slave; the academic cap, therefore, has become a sign of the freedom of scholarship. The flowing gown has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it covers any dress that might indicate rank or social status. The hood, reserved at The Ohio State University for those receiving doctoral degrees, not only indicates the type of degree, but also is lined with the official colors of the university.

The Gown

Bachelor: Black, full cut with long pointed sleeves.

Master: Black, long or short sleeves with a reshaped panel extended for each sleeve.

Doctor: Black with velvet panels on front of gown and three velvet bars on each sleeve. Color of the velvet may be black or distinctive of the field of study.

Honors Emblem

The Ohio State University honors emblem is a scarlet and gray tasseled braid worn over the gown. Students eligible for this curricular honor are those graduating summa cum laude, magna cum laude, cum laude, with distinction, with honors in the liberal arts, and with honors in pharmacy.

The Hood

Bachelor: Three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Master: Three and one-half feet long with a three-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Doctor: Four feet in length with a five-inch-wide velvet edging and panel at the sides.

* Not usually worn by candidates for a degree.

The lining of all hoods, which is folded out, bears the official colors of the institution granting the degree. The color of the velvet indicates the field of study:

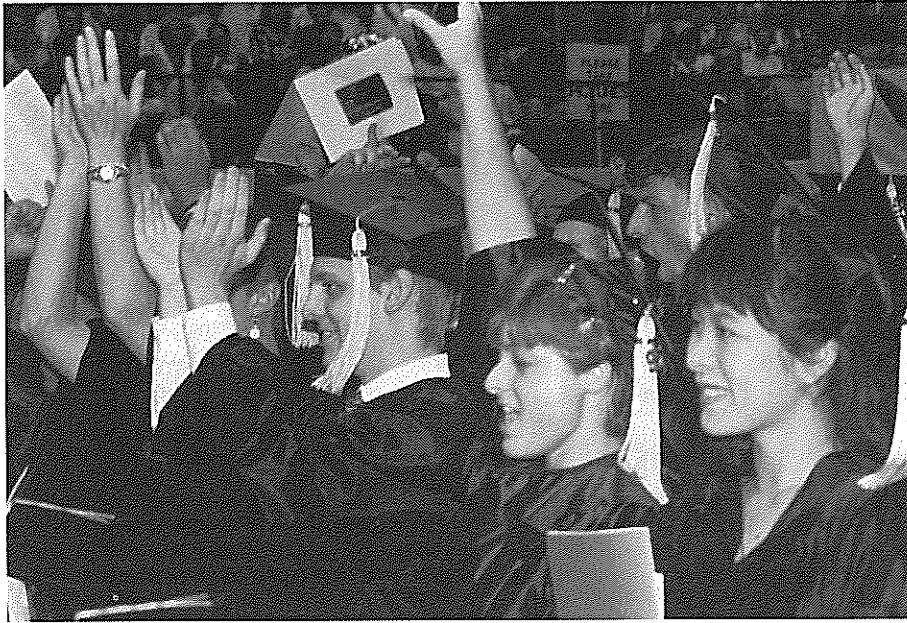

Dentistry	Lilac
Law	Purple
Medicine	Green
Musical Arts	Pink
Optometry	Seafoam Green
Pharmacy	Olive Green

Veterinary Medicine	Gray
