*Oh! come let's sing Ohio's praise,

Commencement

Donald B. Shackelford

Doctor of Business Administration

Donald B. Shackelford is chair of Fifth Third Bank of Columbus. For 25 years, he was chair of State Savings Bank, which was sold to Fifth Third in 1996.

A graduate of Denison University with a B.A. in economics, Mr. Shackelford received an M.B.A. from Harvard Business School where he was a Baker Scholar. He also attended Ohio State for advanced degree work in business.

He has served on Ohio State's University Hospitals Board for 12 years and as chair for the past five years. During his tenure, he has helped the hospitals develop outreach services to extend its care and mission to the people of Central Ohio and beyond. He has assisted in the transition to managed care, working to ensure that quality patient care is preserved. His service to the university includes membership on the Fisher College of Business Dean's Advisory Council and the National Major Gifts Columbus Committee. He also served as co-chair of the campaign for the John Pfahl Executive Education Building. He is a 1991 recipient of the Fisher College's Pace Setters Executive Award.

A prominent member of the Columbus business community, he serves on a number of boards, including The Limited Inc., Intimate Brands Inc., The Progressive Corporation, Midland Life Insurance Company, The Jeffrey Company, Worthington Foods Inc., and Fifth Third Bancorp. For two years, he served as chair of the thrift industry trade association that merged during his tenure into a new entity called America's Community Bankers.

Long involved in local community and civic activities, Mr. Shackelford is a member of the Columbus Foundation's Governing Board, trustee of Children's Hospital and Children's Hospital Foundation, an honorary trustee of the Reese-Shackelford Foundation, trustee of Denison University, and former director of the Capitol South Community Urban Redevelopment Corporation. In 1997, he received a Master Lifetime Achievement Award from The Entrepreneur of the Year Award Program, sponsored by major national and local businesses.

Ohio State recognizes with pride the outstanding dedication of one of its strongest advocates and welcomes him to address today's graduates.

RECIPIENTS OF HONORS

Marie M. Clay

Doctor of Humane Letters

Marie M. Clay is professor emerita at the University of Auckland in New Zealand and a fellow of the Royal Society of New Zealand, the New Zealand Psychological Society, and the New Zealand Educational Institute.

She earned her first degrees and completed her teacher training in Wellington, New Zealand, did post-graduate work in developmental psychology at the University of Minnesota on a Fulbright Scholarship, and completed her doctorate at the University of Auckland in 1966 with a thesis describing the weekly progress of 100 children during their first year of school. This work formed the nucleus of her career-long study of emerging literacy in children.

She taught primary and special classes and worked as a clinical child psychologist in the New Zealand education system and spent 25 years training child psychologists. Her interest in child development and clinical problems resulted in a program of intervention to help children at risk for literacy problems. The program, called Reading Recovery, is now being delivered to some 150,000 children worldwide and was introduced in the United States in 1984-85 when Dr. Clay was Distinguished Visiting Professor in Ohio State's College of Education. Ohio State is the licensing agent for Reading Recovery in the United States, ensuring that all programs established in this country are officially licensed and meet the requirements established by Dr. Clay and the College of Education Reading Recovery faculty.

Dr. Clay's book Reading Recovery: Guidelines for Teachers in Training has sold more than 8 million copies worldwide, and her books The Patterning of Complex Behavior and its later edition Becoming Literate: The Construction of Inner Control are considered classics in the literature on learning. She has authored two books on writing—What Did I Write? and Writing Begins at Home—and more than 65 articles on various aspects of emerging literacy.

She has received the David H. Russell Award from the National Council of Teachers of English, the International Citation of Merit from the International Reading Association, the Mackie Medal from the Australian and New Zealand Association for the Advancement of Science, the McKenzie Award from the New Zealand Association for Research in Education, the Dana Foundation Award, the 1994 New Zealander of the Year Award, and is a Dame Commander of the British Empire.

She is in international demand as a speaker, consultant, and visiting professor and was Senior Fulbright Scholar in Residence at Ohio State in 1991. She served as president of the International Reading Association in 1992-93, the first non-American to hold that office.

Ohio State proudly honors this remarkable scholar, colleague, and advocate for children's literacy.

Vera Cooper Rubin

Doctor of Science

An internationally renowned astronomer, Vera Cooper Rubin has been a member of the Department of Terrestrial Magnetism at the Carnegie Institution of Washington since 1965. She is a 1993 recipient of the National Medal of Science and a member of the National Academy of Sciences and the National Science Board.

Dr. Rubin received a B.A. in astronomy from Vassar College in 1948, an M.A. in astronomy from Cornell University in 1951, and a Ph.D. in astronomy from Georgetown University in 1954. She spent ten years on the faculty of Georgetown University before joining the Carnegie Institution where she has devoted her professional career to the study of motions of gas and stars in galaxies and motions of galaxies in the universe. Her observational work with Kent Ford on spiral galaxies during the 1970s demonstrated for the first time that gravitational mass, now known as dark matter, exists throughout galaxies, not just in their central regions, and the amount of dark matter is many times greater than the matter that makes up planets, stars, and interstellar gases.

Dr. Rubin has also played a major role in characterizing the range of galaxy properties and the connections between these properties and the larger scale environment in which the galaxies formed. The study of large-scale motions in the universe has now become a major field of research.

As a respected member of the international scientific community, Dr. Rubin has presented her work at universities and symposia throughout the world, including India, China, Japan, Chile, and many European countries. She received a presidential appointment to the President's Committee on the National Medal of Science in 1995 and served as committee chair in 1997-98. In 1996, she became the second woman to win the Gold Medal of the Royal Astronomical Society in London. (The first woman, Caroline Herschel, won in 1828.)

Her wide-ranging professional activities include membership on numerous editorial boards, advisory councils, and visiting committees at the national level. From 1982 to 1985, she served as president of Commission 28 (Galaxies) International Astronomical Union. She has actively promoted the role of women in science through her service with the American Physical Society's Panel on Faculty Positions for Women Physicists and Astronomers, the American Astronomical Society's Committee on Women, and the American Women in Science Council.

Ohio State is proud to recognize the pioneering achievements of this distinguished woman of science.

RECIPIENTS OF HONORS

Ismail Serageldin

Doctor of Natural Resources Management

Ismail Serageldin, vice president for special programs of The World Bank, is one of the world's leading authorities on agricultural and economic development. At The World Bank, he serves as chairman of the Consultative Group on International Agricultural Research (CGIAR), the Consultative Group to Assist the Poorest (CGAP), the Global Water Partnership (GWP), and as co-chair of the NGO-Bank Committee.

A native of Egypt, he received his B.S. degree with first class honors in architecture and engineering from Cairo University in 1964, a Master's of Regional Planning degree from Harvard University Graduate School of Design in 1968, and a Ph.D. from Harvard in 1972. Before joining The World Bank in 1972, he worked as a consultant in city and regional planning and taught at Harvard and Cairo universities.

Throughout his career at The World Bank, he has spearheaded the cause of environmentally and socially sustainable development, particularly in developing countries. He has served in a number of capacities, including economist in education and human resources (1972-76), division chief for technical assistance and special studies (1977-80), division chief for urban projects in Europe, the Middle East, and north Africa (1980-83), director for programs in West Africa (1984-87), country director for Central and Occidental Africa (1987-89), technical director for all Sub-Saharan Africa (1990-92), and vice president for environmentally and socially sustainable development (1993-96). Now, as vice president for special programs, he is leading an effort to promote a cultural heritage agenda to help the Bank's member countries preserve their history and culture in their development processes.

He has written more than 35 books and monographs and more than 200 articles and book chapters on global challenges and natural resources management issues. Among the most recent are Nurturing Development (1995), Sustainability and the Wealth of Nations (1996), The Architecture of Empowerment (1997), and Rural Well-Being: From Vision to Action (1997, with David Steeds).

Through his work with The World Bank, Dr. Serageldin has made investments in international agriculture a top priority. As chair of CGIAR, he oversees the world's largest research consortium aimed at alleviating world hunger through the advancement of agricultural technologies and food security. The 16 CGIAR centers, located primarily in developing nations throughout the globe, provided the knowledge and technology that enabled the Green Revolution of the 1970's and 1980's to take place in South Asia.

It is with deep pride that Ohio State recognizes the many contributions to the betterment of all humanity being made by this visionary leader.

RECIPIENTS OF HONORS

Frank W. Hale, Jr.

Distinguished Service Award

Frank W. Hale, Jr. is vice provost for minority affairs and professor emeritus at Ohio State where he served for 17 years before his 1988 retirement.

The Missouri native received his bachelor's and master's degrees in communication, political science, and English from the University of Nebraska, and holds a doctorate in communication and political science from Ohio State. In addition, he was awarded a Certificate in English Literature from the University of London in 1960.

Dr. Hale began his career in higher education in 1951. From 1959 to 1966, he served as chair and professor the Department of English at Central State University in Ohio. He then served as president of Oakwood College in Huntsville, Alabama, before coming to Ohio State in 1971 as professor of communications and associate dean and chair of the Fellowship Committee of the Graduate School. In 1978, he was appointed the university's second vice provost for minority affairs. Following his retirement from Ohio State, Dr. Hale served three years as special assistant to the president of Kenyon College.

During Dr. Hale's tenure as vice provost, Ohio State became a national leader in graduate education for minority men and women with the largest and most successful Office of Minority Affairs in the nation. Through his efforts, nearly $15 million in graduate fellowship awards were granted to some 1,200 minority students, 80 percent of whom went on to earn master's and/or doctoral degrees. He was also instrumental in establishing a Minority Scholars Program to award full tuition scholarships to minority high school students.

Dr. Hale has written or edited seven books and more than 50 professional journal articles on communications, multicultural programs, and minority affairs, and has lectured at more than 250 colleges and universities nationwide. He has served on numerous national and regional boards and commissions, including the United Negro College Fund, Operation PUSH, the Seventh-Day Adventist Commission on Higher Education, and the Ohio Martin Luther King Commission.

Among his numerous awards and citations are the United Negro College Fund's Distinguished Service Award and Frederick Douglass Patterson Award, the PUSH for Excellence National Recognition Citation, the British Council Award, the Ohio Governor's Award for Community Action, and Ohio State's Distinguished Affirmative Action Award.

Upon his retirement, Ohio State named the Frank W. Hale, Jr. Black Cultural Center in his honor, designating the building in which it is housed as Hale Hall. It is with continuing gratitude and pride that the university honors him today.

Richard J. Solove

A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT KIRWAN

As Ohio State's new president, I am delighted to join you on this special occasion and to be a member of the university family. Graduation day at Ohio State has been described as a cross between a pep rally, a family reunion, and an academic ceremony. It is all of that—and more.

Commencement is the single greatest event in the life of a university president—a day that reminds all of us that ours is a remarkable institution with a proud tradition and a very bright future. For you, it is a recognition of your hard work and a celebration of your notable achievements.

Now you are about to embark on another phase of your life. And I suspect you face that prospect with excitement and some trepidation. I remember how I felt as a senior at the University of Kentucky. I wasn't sure where I would be the next year. Then I decided to travel east for graduate school and the Great Unknown. I was ready to move on, but reluctant to leave behind friends and mentors, familiar places and comfortable surroundings.

I found myself feeling that same way again a few months ago when I left the University of Maryland after 34 years to come to Ohio State. I was sad to leave good friends, but took with me wonderful memories.

No matter where your opportunities take you, there will be no forgetting the place and process that has forged your life and career. Ohio State has made a difference in your life. And now, armed with an Ohio State education, you will make a difference in the lives of others.

As newly minted alumni, you join a family of more than 300,000 Ohio State graduates throughout the world. Based on the quality of your education and the scope of your achievements, I have no doubt of the impact you will have on your careers and your communities.

You have my hearty congratulations and my very best regards as you take on new challenges.

W. E. Kirwan

William E. Kirwan
President

CONGRATULATIONS AND WELCOME TO THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Congratulations on receiving your degree. You may not notice the difference, but today, along with hundreds of your colleagues, you have joined the ranks of Ohio State alumni. For you, one era has passed, and another is about to begin.

You are a member of the Buckeye family and partner in the enterprise, carrying the reputation of Ohio State through your activities and accomplishments. You exemplify the fruits of a good education: a critical mind, a discerning spirit, higher values, a sense of commitment, and the privilege of service.

You can assist the university in many ways. You can recruit new and highly qualified students. You can represent Ohio State well through personal and occupational achievements. You can participate financially through the Development Fund. And you can work in an advisory capacity with the university to improve it and its programs to better prepare today's students for tomorrow's citizenship.

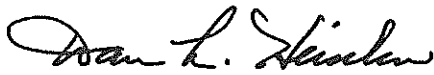

We extend to you a year's complimentary membership in the Alumni Association. Included is a year's subscription to the Ohio State Alumni Magazine, which will keep you informed of the university's continuing pursuit of excellence and help you keep in touch with your friends and classmates.

To you, your family, friends, and all those who helped you reach this day go our best wishes. You are joining a great family of Ohio State alumni working together to make a difference around the world.

Cordially,

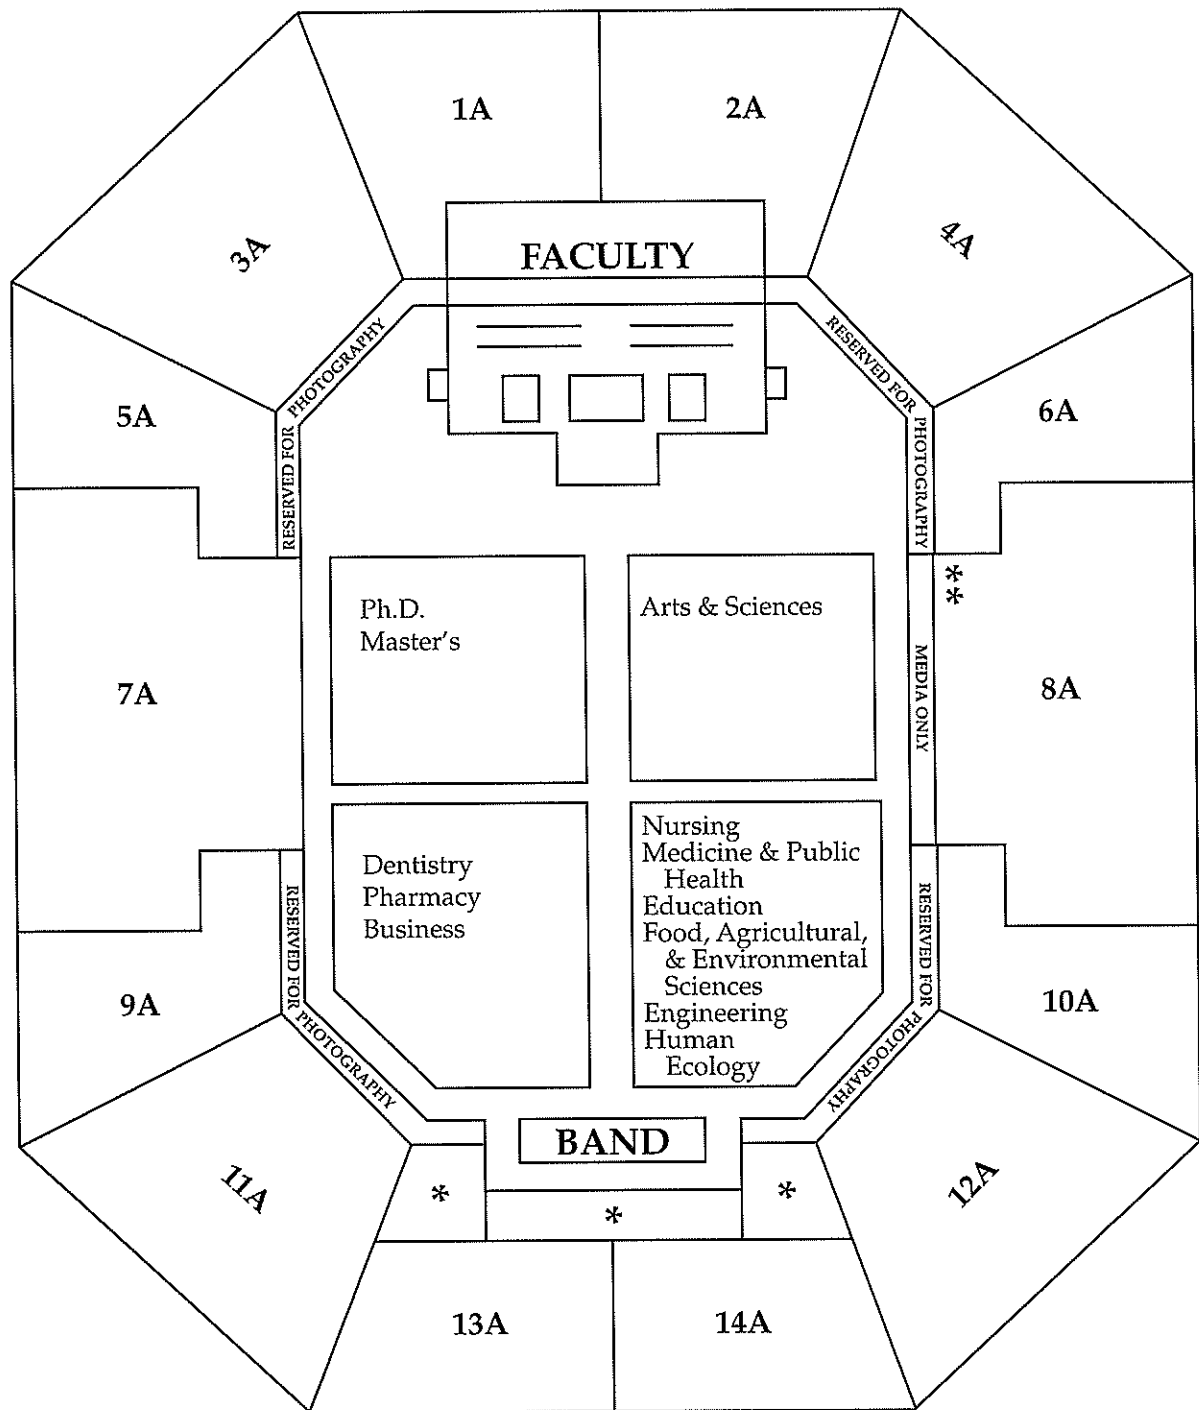

Thomas J. Moyer

This printed program, therefore, should not be used to determine a student's academic or degree status. The University's official registry for conferral of degrees is the student's permanent academic record, kept by the Office of The University Registrar, 202 Lincoln Tower, 1800 Cannon Drive, Columbus, Ohio 43210.

THE ACADEMIC COSTUME

The colorful ceremonies of The Ohio State University Commencements derive from practices originating in the Middle Ages. When European universities were taking form in the 12th and 13th centuries, the scholars were usually clerics, and consequently they adopted costumes similar to those of their monastic orders. Cold halls and drafty buildings called for caps and floor-length capes with attached hoods, and the sobering influence of the church probably influenced the staid character of the caps and gowns.

As the control of the universities gradually passed from the church, some aspects of the costumes took on brighter hues. Old prints and engravings, however, reveal a strong similarity between the regalia worn in early universities and that of the present day.

In the light of our nation's English heritage, academic costume has been in use in the United States since colonial times. To establish a standard of uniformity in regard to the practice, an intercollegiate commission was formed to prepare a code for caps, gowns, and hoods that has since been adopted by all academic institutions.

Originally round, the shape of the cap is now the familiar mortarboard square—a shape which, according to ballad folklore, resembles a scholar's book. Legend also has it that the privilege of wearing a cap was the initial right of a freed Roman slave; the academic cap, therefore, has become a sign of the freedom of scholarship. The flowing gown has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it covers any dress that might indicate rank or social status. The hood, reserved at The Ohio State University for those receiving doctoral degrees, not only indicates the type of degree, but also is lined with the official colors of the university.

The Gown

Bachelor: Black, full cut with long pointed sleeves.

Master: Black, long or short sleeves with a reshaped panel extended for each sleeve.

Doctor: Black with velvet panels on front of gown and three velvet bars on each sleeve. Color of the velvet may be black or distinctive of the field of study.

Honors Emblem

The Ohio State University honors emblem is a scarlet and gray tasseled braid worn over the gown. Students eligible for this curricular honor are those graduating summa cum laude, magna cum laude, cum laude, with distinction, with honors in the liberal arts, and with honors in pharmacy.

The Hood

Bachelor: Three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Master: Three and one-half feet long with a three-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Doctor: Four feet in length with a five-inch-wide velvet edging and panel at the sides.

The lining of all hoods, which is folded out, bears the official colors of the institution granting the degree. The color of the velvet indicates the field of study:

* Not usually worn by candidates for a degree.
