TIME AND CHANGE WILL SURELY SHOW
HOW FIRM THY FRIENDSHIP—OHIO.

COMMENCEMENT • SUMMER 2004

Pomp, Circumstance, and Other Songs of a Lifetime

—by David Citino, Professor of English and Creative Writing and University Poet Laureate (Originally presented as the 2000 Winter Commencement address)

If you're like me, you've got a big head, not to mention a funny robe, full of music—
poems and melodies, the tunes we move to, shower and shave by, study, write to. Not just the incidental,

but the momentous music keeping time.
Our histories are measures of song.
Listen to your heart: drums of Africa,
sea-spume of blind, far-sighted Homer, Sappho's honeyed love lyrics. Often,

music speaks for us, one note saying a thousand words. Like Rodolpho in Puccini's La Boheme, Sono un poeta.
I am a poet. Che cosa faccio? What do I do? Scrivo. I write. This ceremony is loud music—pomp and circumstance of the life you began freshman year or that first day of graduate school.

In my head I press Play, and the CD of Big Days kicks on. I leap and linger over moments too sweet, nearly, for words.

I'll never escape rhymes from the nursery.
Up above the world so high, like a diamond in the sky. We knew from the start our universe was aglow with wonder.

Italian, Latin, English songs in nasal accents of Cleveland. Gaudeamus igitur, Juvenes dum sumus. So, let us rejoice, while we are young. Youth is that gift we can't comprehend while we're young. This ceremony means you all are less young than you were.

Don't let the heavy knowledge gained from your studies deprive you of the gifts of youth, to be able to rejoice at the drop of a hat, to care for, be moved by others.

Now I hear golden hits of five decades.
Big Mama Thornton, and that so-called King (King of what, fried butter sandwiches?)
who stole away her hound dog. You ain't never killed a rabbit, you ain't no friend of mine. As with those profs and TAs, course after course, you had to produce—kill some rabbits—to earn respect.

And at times OSU may have seemed like Heartbreak Hotel, down at the end of Lonely Street, so difficult was it to do your best. Tennessee Ernie Ford, "Sixteen Tons": St. Peter don't you call me 'Cause I can't go, I owe my soul to the company store.

You have been digging deep in mines of knowledge. We all owe our souls to Ohio State, company store of learning, shared experience—precious ore
we have in common forever.

Now I hear Domenico Modugno's fervent urging to wish, sing, fly, Volare, Wo-oo. Cantare, Wo-o-o-o.
My grandfather was a peasant farmer,
a contadino in Calabria in the toe of Italy. He knew it's the human lot to dream of flying. Lucky, lucky, lucky me, I'm a lucky son-of-a-gun.

I work eight hours, I sleep eight hours.
That leaves eight hours for fun.

Hey! He sailed in steerage across the Atlantic, came to Cleveland, where he stayed long enough to work 52 years for the B&O Railroad, before lying down to rest in good Ohio soil. So many of us here today came from elsewhere, or ancestors did. From Tennessee, Italy, Africa, Asia, Appalachia—even,

President Kirwan, the wilds of Kentucky and Maryland. Women and men with backs supple as birch trunks. The courage it took to pick up stakes and begin again in a new world! Think of the work those older ones did. For you. You all are facing a change right now.

This sheepskin is your passport.
You're bound for emigration to the next song of your life. Ohio State is the ark on which you've been sailing.
You've been the precious cargo.

But, as Noah once said, I can see clearly now the rain is gone. The ark, our university, was filled to overflowing with the diversity of us. Diversity.
Networks and talk shows devalue the word.

I say, rather, the richness of us,
precious difference, the grand multiplicity of selves that balance this globe and enable it to spin true. Grandson of peasant immigrants, I was given the opportunity to earn a doctorate in English literature from Ohio State—because my family labored long nights around the kitchen table trying to learn this arduous English. I sat where you're sitting twenty-six years ago.

Bob Dylan and Smokey Robinson got me through. Yes, it took a prophet and Miracles!
My son earned an OSU Ph.D. in history.
Now you, graduates, are being honored—by degrees. We've all come together around the kitchen table of Ohio State.

Ohio, Round on the ends and high in the middle. For the years to come we'll sing together, Beautiful Ohio,

in dreams again I see, Visions of what used to be. These psalms, sacred thoughts of our tribes, 78's and 33's, tapes, CD's—they take up space in shelves of our skulls, our hearts. They remind us we want a song beyond the run-of-the-mill thrill, the moment throbbing with pleasure or bathed in the blues.

We ache for something grander than pure selfishness. Songs sung for one alone are not true music. Arias shared are music of the spheres, ways of saying to another something from the soul.

Of course the Buckeye Battle Cry
is there. Drive, drive on down the field,

Men (and women!) of the Scarlet and Gray. Well, you drove on down the field, and you drove up and down the streets, around and around crowded lots, looking for a place to park,

and you searched our dark, ancient library for a decent place to study. My wife, Mary's, father marched in the first "Script Ohio," in 1936. He's here today with us, blowing his horn, I can't help but feel, as is the sweet mother

I lost last year, the one who gave me the stars. Today's music makes us think of the debts we owe, and never can repay.
So many of us would not be here were it not for the lullabies and songs of dear parents, their parents, theirs.

Some are here today in the flesh.
Many are not. We mourn them with cadences.
of our hearts. Think how many people sang before us, gave us a name, a voice, taught us the right words. We must cherish them by remembering every song.

When we sing to others, we honor our fathers and mothers, thank them for this day of profound scarlet and gray pomp and circumstance. O, come let's sing Ohio's praise, And songs to Alma Mater raise. Alma mater.

Ohio State is our sweet, nurturing mother

We came of age here, with her help.
Well, Mother, we love you, but, like, it's time we moved out, got a place of our own. You're standing there, Mom, gray hair, eyes scarlet from crying. We won't forget you.

Now, even though this ceremony means we're being weaned, taken off the nipple, let's take care to cherish her all our days. Let's remember the words to the songs she taught us, and pass them on. We'll remember always, Graduation Day. *Summer's heat, and winter's cold, The seasons pass,

the years will roll, Time and change*

will surely show How firm thy friendship.
O-hi-O. We call that little number Carmen Ohio. Carmen means song in Latin. You've worked hard; she is your reward; today is your reward.

You're filled to overflowing with the notes, the poems we've written together. You know the score.
Continue to work hard for yourselves, and one another. Find the ones who need you to sing to, for them, in the world.

Graduates, this joyful litany, this hymn
our ancestors collaborated on with us, the calling of your name today is music to our ears. Sing that name proudly all your days, as if your life depended on it. It does, you know. It has been an honor for me to speak—and sing—to you today. Thank you, graduates, and, again, Congratulations.

Recessional

Excerpts from the commencement ceremony will be broadcast on WOSU-TV, Channel 34, at 5:30 p.m. on August 30.

President Holbrook looks forward to personally congratulating graduates on the stage after the class recessional has concluded.

Lee S. Shulman

Lee S. Shulman was named eighth president of The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching in 1997. The foundation was created by Andrew Carnegie in 1905 and chartered by the United States Congress in 1906 “to do and perform all things necessary to encourage, uphold, and dignify the profession of teaching.”

Dr. Shulman, who earned his bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degrees from the University of Chicago, is Charles E. Ducommun Professor of Education Emeritus at Stanford University. Prior to joining Stanford's education faculty, he was professor of educational psychology and medical education at Michigan State University from 1963 to 1982. While at Michigan State, he co-founded the Institute for Research on Teaching (IRT) in 1976.

Dr. Shulman's research and publications have dealt with the study of teaching and teacher education; the growth of knowledge among those learning to teach; the assessment of teaching; medical education; the psychology of instruction in science, mathematics, and medicine; the logic of educational research; and the quality of teaching in higher education.

His studies of medical reasoning with Arthur Elstein were considered the most thorough investigations of the cognitive processes of medical problem solving when published in 1978 by Harvard University Press. His research group at Stanford laid the conceptual foundations for a reconsideration of the nature of teacher knowledge, with special reference to the role of content understanding in the pedagogical process. Between 1985 and 1990, Dr. Shulman and his colleagues conducted the technical studies and field tests that supported the creation of the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards.

Dr. Shulman is a past president of the American Educational Research Association, which awarded him its highest honor, the career award for Distinguished Contributions to Educational Research. He is a member of the National Academy of Education, where he served as both vice president and president. In 1995, he received the E.L. Thorndike Award for Distinguished Psychological Contributions to Education from the American Psychological Association's Division of Educational Psychology. He was elected a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences in 2002.

Ohio State proudly welcomes this distinguished educator to address its graduating class.

RECIPIENTS OF HONORS

Ernest M. Henley

Doctor of Science

Ernest M. Henley is professor emeritus in the Department of Physics at the University of Washington. He is widely respected as one of the most original and influential theoretical nuclear physicists in the scientific community today.

After earning his Ph.D. in physics from the University of California, Berkeley, in 1952, Dr. Henley was a lecturer at Columbia University before joining the faculty at the University of Washington in 1954 as an assistant professor of physics, becoming a full professor in 1961. During his tenure at the University of Washington, he has proven a skilled administrator, serving as chair of the University Faculty Senate, chair of the Department of Physics, and dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. In 1990, he played a leading role in founding the university's Institute for Nuclear Theory, serving as director for its inaugural year and continuing to serve as its associate director.

His research interests have had a profound effect on the field of particle and nuclear physics. His main impact has been in the area of symmetry violations in nuclei, which have led to important tests of the standard model of particle physics and to the measurement of a unique property of atoms called anapole movement.

Dr. Henley is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, having served as chair of its Physics Section; and a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and the American Physical Society, where he served as president in 1992, as chair of the Nuclear Physics Division from 1979 to 1980, and serves as co-founder and secretary-treasurer of the society's Northwest Section. He has been a Distinguished Scholar to the People's Republic of China and has chaired the Nuclear Science Advisory Committee, which advises the federal government on all major funding issues in nuclear physics.

Dr. Henley is the author or coauthor of some 200 scholarly journal articles, more than 20 book chapters, and six books. He is currently at work on a third edition of Nuclear and Particle Physics, first published in 1975. He continues to do research on the early universe and neutrinos in astrophysics.

Howard M. Johnson

Doctor of Science

Howard M. Johnson is Graduate Research Professor in the Department of Microbiology and Cell Science at the University of Florida. He has received international recognition for his contributions to understanding the role of interferons and superantigens as modulators of the immune response. The research has played an important role in the use of interferon in the treatment of multiple sclerosis.

A native of Maryland, Dr. Johnson's elementary education began modestly in a two-room building with no running water or central heating. However, his strong commitment to education ultimately led him to The Ohio State University where he received his bachelor's, master's, and Ph.D. degrees and began his research in immunology. After receiving his doctorate, he worked with the Food and Drug Administration in Cincinnati from 1963 to 1975 before receiving an academic appointment as associate professor in the University of Texas Medical Branch's Department of Microbiology in Galveston. He rose to the rank of full professor in 1978.

In 1984 he joined the University of Florida faculty as professor in the Department of Comparative and Experimental Pathology, and in 1988 he was named Graduate Research Professor, one of the university's highest academic distinctions. He also served as a University of Florida Research Foundation Professor from 1997 to 2000.

During his academic career, Dr. Johnson has been the recipient of numerous National Institutes of Health grants, has published more than 260 scholarly research papers, and has mentored 14 graduate students and nine postdoctoral researchers. He has served on the Graduate Study Panel of the National Science Foundation and the editorial boards of the Journal of Immunology and Infection and Immunity. He was a member of the National Advisory Council of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases from 1994 to 1998 and the Research Committee of the American Heart Association from 1991 to 1996. In these positions, he was responsible for evaluating and approving research projects nationwide, involving annual expenditures of more than $1 billion.

Dr. Johnson was instrumental in establishing a Center for Inflammatory Host Defense and Tissue Injury at the University of Florida, serving as its first director. And he is the founder and president of a start-up biotechnology company, Superferons Inc.

Clarence R. Cole

Distinguished Service Award

Clarence R. Cole is Regents Professor Emeritus in veterinary pathobiology in The Ohio State University College of Veterinary Medicine. During his long tenure at Ohio State, he was a leading proponent of veterinary research for the benefit of both animals and humans, bringing national attention to his college and to his alma mater.

Dr. Cole earned his doctor of veterinary medicine degree in 1943, a master's degree in veterinary pathology in 1944, and a Ph.D. in pathobiology in 1947, all from Ohio State, before joining the university's faculty in 1947. After rising through the academic ranks to professor of veterinary pathology in the College of Veterinary Medicine and professor of comparative pathology in the College of Medicine and Public Health, he was named Regents Professor by the Ohio Board of Regents in 1971. He retired from the university in 1985.

During his years as assistant dean for research development from 1960 to 1967 and then dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine from 1967 to 1971, Dr. Cole was responsible for a number of innovative changes. He planned and secured extramural funding from the National Institutes of Health and the State of Ohio for two major buildings—the Veterinary Teaching Hospital and Goss Laboratories. He designed and initiated the college's precedent-setting integrated body systems-oriented, core-elective curriculum, still in place today. He began admission procedures for students based on merit without regard to gender and expanded graduate education, and he established interdisciplinary programs between the Colleges of Veterinary Medicine and Medicine. During this time, he obtained grants and gifts to the college totaling more than $16.5 billion.

A stimulating teacher, Dr. Cole has published extensively, lectured throughout the world on pathobiology and veterinary education, and serves as an advisor to the World Health Organization. He is a founder of the American College of Veterinary Pathologists, serving as its president in 1957.

He received the College of Veterinary Medicine's Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1986, and his many contributions are acknowledged by a plaque on the Clarence R. Cole Deans' Suite in the new Veterinary Medicine Academic Building.

Elaine H. Hairston

Distinguished Service Award

Elaine H. Hairston is chancellor emerita of the Ohio Board of Regents and senior consultant with the Academic Search Consultation Service in Washington, D.C., where she assists boards of trustees with university presidential searches.

Dr. Hairston completed all her academic degrees at The Ohio State University, receiving a bachelor of arts in English in 1966, master's in speech in 1967, and Ph.D. in communication in 1970. In 1971, she was named the university's first associate director of affirmative action programs, playing a leading role in establishing the first childcare center on any Ohio public university campus and in gaining admission for women into graduate and professional schools and into the Ohio State Marching Band. In 1976, as assistant vice president for the offices of admissions and registration services for Ohio State's 55,000 undergraduate, graduate, and professional students, Dr. Hairston helped ease student enrollment processes.

In 1979, she was named vice chancellor for academic programs at the Ohio Board of Regents and was chief architect of the board's innovative Selective Excellence Program, which included the Ohio Eminent Scholars Program, a $60 million state strategy designed to improve quality on Ohio campuses. As Ohio's youngest and first female chancellor of the Board of Regents (1990-97), Dr. Hairston led one of the nation's largest and most complex systems of higher education through a period of significant change, positioning it for a healthy future. She was responsible for the planning, budgeting, and coordination of Ohio's 65 public college and university campuses with a combined enrollment of 400,000 and an annual operating budget of more than $2 billion. While chancellor, she encouraged research consortia, expanded Ohio's community college system, led the development of OhioLINK (a cutting-edge online statewide academic library system), facilitated the full transfer of academic course credits among the state's colleges and universities, supported the establishment of childcare centers on all campuses, and pressed campuses to cut costs and improve efficiency.

Since retiring as chancellor in 1998, Dr. Hairston has continued her service to Ohio State in a variety of capacities. She was a member of the Arthur G. James Cancer Hospital and Richard M. Solove Research Center Foundation Board and an Ohio State Distinguished Visiting Scholar. She served as chair of the Alumni Advisory Council of Ohio State's Alumni Association from 2001 to 2003, and currently serves on the Advisory Committee to the University Honors Program. Dr. Hairston is the recipient of the 1984 Professional Excellence Award of the Department of Communication. In 1987, she was honored at the university's 300th commencement for her achievements. She received the 1998 College of Humanities Alumni Award of Distinction and, in 1999, The Ohio State University Alumni Association Professional Achievement Award.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY CLASS GIFT PROGRAM

In 1891, a group of students planted five elm trees on the Oval the evening before graduation and the Class Gift tradition was born. Since that time, Ohio State students have continued to celebrate their commencements with gifts to the university.

For 2004, the Student Campaign Advisory Board is focusing its Class Gift efforts to help fund the renovation of “The Long Walk” on the Oval. Rich in history and tradition, this project touches the lives of most students who walk the Ohio State campus each day. Students may also wish to designate their Class Gift to their college or school’s Annual Fund or any other fund they choose.

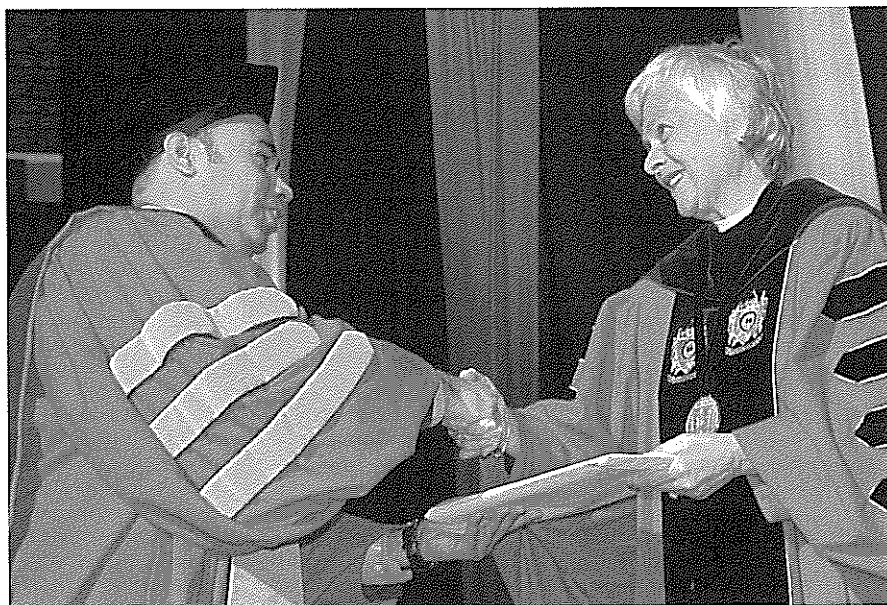

The Student Campaign provides an opportunity for students to become involved in Ohio State’s unique campus-wide culture of giving. As part of this culture, the Class Gift is a special way for graduating students to express their thanks for the education they received and leave a legacy that will benefit future Ohio State students for years to come.

Graduates who wish to make their 2004 Class Gift may contact the Student Campaign coordinator in the Office of Annual Giving.

Congratulations on your graduation, and we hope you look forward to this next chapter in your lifelong relationship as a Buckeye. Thanks for your support!

THE ACADEMIC COSTUME

The colorful ceremonies of The Ohio State University commencement derive from practices originating in the Middle Ages. When European universities were taking form in the 12th and 13th centuries, the scholars were usually clerics, and consequently they adopted costumes similar to those of their monastic orders. Cold halls and drafty buildings called for caps and floor-length capes with attached hoods, and the sobering influence of the church probably influenced the staid character of the caps and gowns.

As the control of the universities gradually passed from the church, some aspects of the costumes took on brighter hues. Old prints and engravings, however, reveal a strong similarity between the regalia worn in early universities and that of the present day.

In light of our nation's English heritage, academic costume has been in use in the United States since colonial times. To establish a standard of uniformity in regard to the practice, an intercollegiate commission was formed to prepare a code for caps, gowns, and hoods that has since been adopted by all academic institutions.

Originally round, the shape of the cap is now the familiar mortarboard square—

a shape which, according to ballad folklore, resembles a scholar's book. Legend also has it that the privilege of wearing a cap was the initial right of a freed Roman slave; the academic cap, therefore, has become a sign of the freedom of scholarship. The flowing gown has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it covers any dress that might indicate rank or social status. The hood, reserved at The Ohio State University for those receiving doctoral and master's degrees, not only indicates the type of degree, but also is lined with the official colors of the university.

The Gown

Bachelor: The bachelor gown is black, full cut with long pointed sleeves.

Master: The master gown is black, long or short sleeves, with an arc-shaped panel extended for each sleeve.

Doctor: The Ohio State University Doctor of Philosophy gown is scarlet with gray velvet panels on the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve. Other doctor gowns are black with velvet panels and bars, the color of which is distinctive of the field of study.

Honors Emblem

The Ohio State University honors emblem is a scarlet and gray tasseled braid worn over the gown. Students eligible for this curricular honor are those graduating summa cum laude, magna cum laude, cum laude, with distinction, and with honors.

The Hood

Bachelor: Three feet long with a two-inch-wide velvet edging.*

Master: Three and one-half feet long with a three-inch-wide velvet edging.

Doctor: Four feet in length with a five-inch-wide velvet edging and panel at the sides.

The lining of all hoods, which is folded out, bears the official colors of the institution granting the degree. The color of the velvet indicates the field of study:

Dentistry.....	Lilac
Law.....	Purple
Medicine.....	Green
Musical Arts.....	Pink
Optometry.....	Seafoam Green
Pharmacy.....	Olive Green
Philosophy.....	Dark Blue
Veterinary Medicine.....	Gray

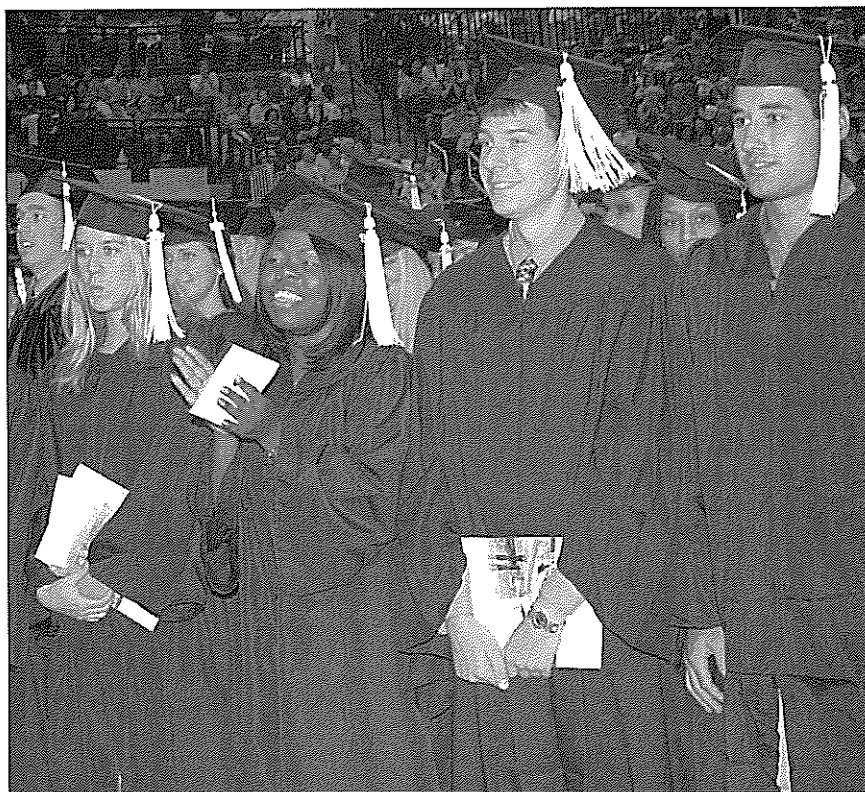

* Not usually worn by candidates for a degree.

Cap and Tassel

Candidates for degrees at The Ohio State University wear the black mortarboard with a tassel whose color is distinctive of the degree being received. The tassel colors are as follows:

Graduate School (Ph.D.)	Gray
(Others).....	Black
Colleges of the Arts and Sciences	White
College of the Arts (B.A., B.S.I.D.)	White
